EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

Two hundred thousand majority for Harrison in New York State.

A VOTE for Kerr for Congress is a vote in favor of high taxes and low wages.

A VOTE for Cleveland means higher taxes and nothing with which to pay them.

HARRISON will certainly receive every electoral vote except those of the South.

AFTER due consideration, Mr. Thurman, the Democratic nominee for Vice President, has accepted.

MR. RYNDER is an avowed protectionist. Let the campaign in his favor be short, sharp and decisive.

ABOUT all the trusts and and monopolies in this country are managed by Democrats and the sugar trust owns Mr. Cleveland.

THERE was a serious wreck near Lewistown Junction on Monday afternoon, A. J. Gesselman and Edward Miller being injured.

THE Democrats can number only one flopper in each town while in almost every town there are dozens of Democrats who will vote for Harrison.

MR. BLAINE continues most provokingly well and refuses to be sick although the Democratic papers have predicted his serious illness for many years past.

As Thanksgiving approaches we realize that there is much to be thankful for. And perhaps a kind Providence will add to the other blessings the adjournment of congress.

A GENTLEMAN who is especially well situated for hearing the truth, politically, informs us that he has received assurances that the Republican majority in New York State will be tremendous.

GENERAL SHERMAN says of the practice of suppressing the Negro vote in the South: "So sure as there is a God in Heaven you (of the South) will have another war, more cruel than the last, where the torch and dagger will take the place of the muskets of well ordered battalions."

THE Pittsburg Christian Advocate makes a statement which we have seen nowhere else. It is worthy of a permanent record. It is this: "Christianity finds its best defence in the lives of its followers. During the present epidemic at Jacksonville, every minister has remained at his post, faithfully attending to his duties, nursing the sick, comforting the dying, burying the dead. At least one of these heroic men fell a victim to the disease, his utterances being of triumph and encouragement."

CANDIDATE RYNDER.

His Brief But Strong Letter on Protection and Service Pensions.

HE WILL RECEIVE SUPPORT FROM ALL SOURCES.

Following is the letter written by the Union Labor Candidate for congress, T. P. Rynder, in response to a request for his views on the leading issues of the present campaign:

MILESBURG, Pa., Sept. 29, 1888.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

In response to your invitation to define my position on the tariff question, I take pleasure in complying.

I am a radical protectionist. Instead of reducing the tariff as proposed by the Mills bill I would increase the tariff until we do not import anything we can make, thereby giving steady employment to native and naturalized American labor.

I would protect American labor by putting an immediate stop to the flood of imported labor which is thrown upon us to relieve the stress of Europe under its despotic, aristocratic and standing army systems, and which labor herds like beasts, and destroys the wages, hopes and opportunities of American laborers.

I would protect American commerce by building an American merchant marine, and an American Navy which should be equal to any possible want of attack or defense.

I would protect the American farmer by giving him as great protection as we give our manufacturers.

I would protect the Union soldiers by giving every one of them a liberal service pension. The richest nation on earth should not let the fear of charity or the poor house stare one of its defenders in the face.

This is the fourth war with England and I am for the United States. England's free-trade in man forced slavery on the colonies. England's free trade attempt to perpetuate slavery cost us a half million lives and more than six billions of money. England's policy has put our farmers in competition with the labor of India which averages six cents a day. I am an American, and for an American policy for the American people.

We imported last year seven hundred million dollars worth of foreign goods. Five hundred millions of it, under proper protection, might have been made here. If this had been the case can any one believe we would have a million idle men and falling wages? I do not. I am high tariff protectionist.

Truly yours,
T. P. RYNDER.

FOR SERVICE PENSIONS.

He was also endorsed by the Centre County Soldiers Service Pension Club, as will be seen by the following resolution:

Resolved, That we recognize the many years of work of Theodore P. Rynder in favor of a Sevice Pension Law and other soldiers' rights, and hereby endorse his candidacy for Congress, and recommend him to the voters of the Twenty-eight District.

RESOLUTIONS OF ENDORSEMENT.

The Republican Congressional Conference, on Friday, at Dubois, adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we endorse the platform adopted by the Republican party on the 19th of June at Chicago, and will labor for the triumph of its principles.

Resolved, That Benjamin Harrison and Levi P. Morton, our candidates for President and Vice President have our fullest confidence and we pledge to them our undivided support.

Resolved, That we endorse and will labor for the success of our State ticket and our various county tickets.

Resolved, That we are unalterably opposed to the Democratic heresy of Free Trade, believing that the laborer, the manufacturer, as well as the entire body of our citizens are interested in maintaining such a tariff as will protect our American industries from ruinous foreign competition.

Resolved, That our Congressman, Gen. John Patton, has fully justified the confidence placed in him by our people; that he has faithfully represented them as well as their interests, and that in his voluntary retirement to private life he carries with him our best wishes as well as the respect, confidence, and lasting regard of his fellow citizens.

Resolved, The Republican Conferees of the 28th Congressional district recognize that the preservation of our Protective system and the adequate pensions to our soldiers, are the only questions before the people, and as we know that the Labor candidate, Hon. T. P. Rynder, for Congress, is an ardent and long time supporter of these views, we hereby endorse his candidacy and recommend him to all supporters of protection and a service pension law for the veteran soldiers who saved the Republic.

"Hon. T. P. Rynder was in town on Saturday. He has been named for congress in the Centre-Clarion Clearfield-Elk and Forest district by the labor union party and has also been endorsed by the Republican party. The latter will not put up a candidate. His competitor is James Kerr. The vote of the district in 1884 was, Democrat 15,370, Republican 12,794. A portion of this district was carried by C. H. Yocum, against A. G. Curtin who served in the Forty-sixth congress. Mr. Rynder is an old soldier, a man of considerable ability, and would make a first-class member. His nomination and endorsement will make the district a close one. He is sanguine that he will be able to pull through. We earnestly hope his expectations may be realized."

THE ENDORSEMENT OF MR. RYNDER FOR CONGRESS.

There are at present only two candidates for congress in the Twenty-eighth district. One of them is James Kerr, of Clearfield, a rich man, a pronounced free trader and the candidate of the Democratic party, which this year means all that is bad. The election of such men as Kerr menaces the prosperity of this country with danger.

The other candidate is Mr. Rynder, of Milesburg, this county, Mr. Rynder has been a Republican in principle since the party has been in existence. He has allied himself with the Union Labor party and has for several years been its State Chairman. That he has been in that position so long and his devotion to the cause has been unquestioned is highly in his favor.

But more than that, he is a thorough protectionist. His belief in that principle goes even further and is more pronounced than that of the Republican party. There is no compromise with him between Protection and tariff reduction. He has also labored for several years to secure a service pension for every soldier. His devotion to these two principles should be the battle cry which will elect him over James Kerr, the rank free trader.

He is a poor man—not able to bear even the expenses of one campaign. So no considerations of boodle could influence the Republican party to give him their support. It is because they look upon him as the friend of Protection, the soldier and the laborer that they call upon the members of the Republican party to give Mr. Rynder a sweeping victory.

The vote on the state ticket in the district in 1884 gave the Democrats 2576 majority. At the same election the labor vote was 955, all of which will go to Rynder this year. With the vital issue of Protection made more prominent than ever before, Mr. Rynder will be elected if all the voters will do their duty.

What They say About Candidate Rynder.

The following praise of Mr. Rynder was written by Mr. Joe Furey for the Lock Haven Daily Democrat a year ago:

"Mr. Rynder is a gentleman of a good deal of ability. He was formerly a citizen of Lock Haven, and did a successful business here for a number of years. He is a printer by trade, sometimes indulges in poetry. He is a clever, amiable, friendly gentleman, with a good deal of talent, as we said before, but which ought to be employed in the interests of Democracy."

Mr. Rynder is a man of ability—the most progressive man in the party.—Northern Tier Gazette.

The Altoona Times called him a distinguished visitor.

This paper will soon present some of the evidences of Mr. Rynder's long fight for Protection. We will give some extracts from his western letters for Protection which almost nominated him for Vice President, and would have done so but for the belief which prevailed that by putting Mr. Cunningham on the ticket Free Trade Democracy would be beaten in Arkansas.

The issue between Protection and Free Trade is not drawn closer in any district in the State than it is in the 28th between Mr. Kerr, the Free Trader, and Mr. Rynder, the Protectionist.

MR. C. M. BOWER, the good-looking President of the Democratic meeting, did not tell all about the pension business under the Democratic administration. He said that Cleveland had granted more pensions than any previous President. Mr. Cleveland did it, however, only because the Republican legislation on the subject for several years past compelled him to. Mr. Cleveland also vetoed almost 300 pensions—a greater number than all the presidents combined, from Washington until the present, and more than any future President will. If Cleveland had himself been a Union soldier and had an adequate appreciation of the horrors of war his vetoes would not have been so subject to criticism, but for a man who was too lazy or too cowardly to shoulder a gun to refuse to acknowledge the bravery of those who did, comes indeed with bad grace. It is only in keeping, however, with what we expected of an individual of Cleveland's questionable character.

PROTECTION AND WAGES.

The Democratic Free Trader contends that all the profits of manufacturing go to the employer and little or none to the wage worker, and argues by giving the manufacturer free raw material, cheaper material under Free Trade, that he will be enabled to pay higher wages to his laborers. You ask him how is this to be done, and he hurls at you the stereotyped and nauseating reply: "By having the markets of the world to sell his goods in." When you ask him if American laborers are expected to be satisfied with the wages paid in foreign countries, he wants to know: "Why not?" Although he claims, so vociferously, that manufacturers can pay better wages with free raw material, he is not able to show any sound reason for making the assertion, but contents himself with the claim that better wages are paid in industries not protected than in those that are highly protected. Facts are against him here, also, but that is so much the worse for the facts.

The arguments of the Free Trader, which enable him to blow hot or cold as necessity requires, are past the average understanding. Under Protection the American laborer demands and gets higher wages and better food, better shelter and is happier than his brother laborer across the ocean. The experiences in our own land ought to be argument enough to prove this—the disastrous panic of 1857 was occasioned by sending all our money to England, to pay for goods purchased under the action of Free Trade laws here. From 1861 to the present time, under protection, the United States has prospered and we have by reason of this Protection, fewer dependents on public charity, in proportion to our population, than has any other civilized country in the world.

The intelligent laboring men, who have followed the elaborate discussions on the Tariff question during this campaign, are able to see that the claims of Protection are irresistible. Facts, and reason, and experience and common sense combine to prove, beyond a shadow of doubt, that Protection is best for the interests of labor in this country, and a majority of laboring men as well as a majority of the whole people will so declare on the 6th of November.

PROTECTION in a country is detrimental to trusts and monopolies for the reason that such organizations must be confined to one country and cannot become international. To form trusts it is necessary that everyone concerned should be placed on the same basis of business operations. A protective tariff which places the transactions of this country several grades higher than those of Europe prevents European trusts from obtaining a foothold in this country. The Democrats evidently known that there are gigantic trusts in Europe which they desire to be introduced here and hence they want trade and industry here on exactly the same basis that it is in Europe. Don't trust them if they say they are opposed to trusts.

AN exchange says: It is costing about two millions more a month, or, $24,000,000 a year, to run the Government under the present administration than it did to run it under the last Republican administration. When we remember that four years ago the Democrats went into power on a platform of reform principal and promises of economy the above increase in expenses seems rather perplexing. When we state, however, that this "reform" administration has created almost 800 new offices during the past year at a cost of about $1,000 each, we begin to see where the money went. Great indeed is this reform Democratic administration.

THE charter election held in Newark, N J., is really a victory for the Republicans. It is a place where there is a large German element. Because of the Republican attitude on the temperance question it was reported that these Germans would vote heavily against the Republicans. The Democrats predicted 1500 majority. That they secured only 300 is a great disappointment to them and upsets their calculation entirely in regard to carrying that state. Newark has often been carried by a larger Democratic majority.

ALL the superior skill in manufacturing possessed by the people of this country over those of other countres is due entirely to the system of protection. In the first place, it gave men high wages and shorter hours of labor. Then they had incentives and money with which to "seek out many inventions." With these inventions they acquired great advantage in all kinds of manufacturing.

OUR NEXT CONGRESSMAN.

From the DuBois COURIER

Mr. Theodore P. Rynder, who is the Union Labor candidate for Congress and who was last night unanimously indorsed, was born in Bedford county, Pa. He is a printer by trade, was a private soldier. For the last six years he has been State Chairman of the Union Labor party of the State. He is a man of decided convictions, and absolutely fearless in the utterance of them. Perhaps the most distinguishing feature of his political career has been his uncompromizing advocacy of protection. No matter, when or where he has been the unalterable advocate of our protection system—or as he tersely puts it—"An American Policy for the American people."

He was an early abolitionist, and when the war broke out he shouldered a musket for the maintenance of the integrity of the Union. He was promoted to a lieutenancy and is a pensioned soldier. Side by side with his advocacy of protection he has been the most persistent advocate of a Service Pension law for the Republic.

He early foresaw that this question would come up, and for eight years he has secured its recognition in the state platform of his own party, and this year carried its adoption in the National platform of his own party, and also in the platform of the Industrial Reform party. Mr. Rynder, it is said, has been the life and soul of his party in this state; but he early foresaw that the time would come when the united efforts of all friends of the soldiers and protection would be needed, and it is greatly to his credit that the union should be made on him.

Mr. Rynder is fifty years old. He was married in 1872 to Miss Catherine Helen Lee, of Milesburg, Centre county, where he now resides. Mrs. Rynder has been the active supporter of her husband, being a powerful writer of both prose and poetry.

Mr. Rynder feels perfectly confident of his election to congress.

MR. MILL'S MISTAKES.

Congressman Mills, author of the free trade Mills bill, spoke in St. Louis a few nights ago. The Globe-Democrat of that city devotes a column to the exposure of his absurdities and mistakes. Here are some of the points:

"The Democratic party proposes to reduce the taxes on the clothing of the people; it proposes to reduce the taxes on the implements of labor with which they support themselves and their families. This is the distinctive policy of the Democratic party, and she takes no free whiskey in her."—[R. Q. Mills.]

Will Mr. Mills, or any one authorized to speak for him, name the articles of food, the implements of labor or the "clothing of the people" which are dearer here than in free-trade Great Britain? For every one of these articles named by him or his spokesman which is 5 per cent. higher here than in England, the Globe-Democrat will name four articles which are as cheap here as in any other part of the world, or cheaper.

A PROMINENT Labor representative of Indiana has declared for Harrison. The notable accession is Hiram Z. Leonard, who was the candidate of the Greenback Labor party for Governor of his State in 1884, and who has recently been stumping Illinois for Streeter. The change is the result of his strong protection sentiment. He writes a letter to the Indianapolis Journal declaring that the free trade policy of the Democracy would tend to pauperize the nation, reduce the price of labor, cause gold to appreciate and greenbacks to depreciate and finally result in general bankruptcy. His letter throughout is a strong, convincing and logical argument, for the maintenance of the protective policy. He will take the stump for Harrison and Morton.

THE Democrats are circulating the Voice, the organ of the Prohibition party, because it's entire influence is in opposition to the Republican party and this aids Democracy.

THE Supreme court of New York has decided that President Cleveland will not be compelled to go to that State and give "evidence which will degrade himself."

The only reason the Democratic party will not join the Salvation Army is because it will be in such a dilapidated condition that salvation will be impossible. Any respectable Salvation Army would kick the party out of its ranks.

Poetry.

MOTHER'S WORK.

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

Dear patient woman, o'er your children bending
To leave a good-night kiss on rosy lips,
Or list the simple prayers to God ascending,
Ere slumber veil them in its soft eclipse;
I wonder, do you dream that seraphs love you,
And sometimes smooth the path for your feet;
That oft their silvery pinions float above you
When life is tangled and cross-roads meet?

So wan and tired, the whole long day so busy,
To laugh or weep, at times you hardly know;
So many trifles make the poor brain dizzy;
So many errands call you to and fro.
Small garments stretching weaving fairy stories,
And binding wounds, and bearing little cares,
Your hours pass, unheeded all the glories
Of that great world beyond your nursery stairs.

One schoolmate's pen has written words of beauty
Her poems sing themselves into the heart;
Another's brush has magic; you have duty;
No time to spare for poetry or art,
But only time for training little fingers,
And teaching youthful spirits to be true;
You know not with what famine woman lingers,
With art alone to fill her, watching you.

And yet, I think you'd rather keep the babies,
Albeit their heads grow heavy on your arm,
Than have the poet's fair, enchanted maybe's,
The artist's versions, rich with dazzling charm;
Sweet the troubles of the happy hours
For even in weariness your soul is blest,
And rich contentment all your being dowers,
That yours is not a hushed and empty nest.

LOSS AND GAIN.

I sorrowed that the golden day was dead,
Its light no more the country side adorning;
But whilst I grieved, behold!—the East grew red
With morning.

I sighed that merry spring was forced to go,
And doff the wreaths that did so well become her;
But whilst I murmured at her absence, lo!—
'Twas summer.

I mourned because the daffodils were killed
By burning skies that scorched my early posies;
But whilst for these I pined my hands were filled
With roses.

Half broken-hearted I bewailed the end
Of friendships than which none had once seemed nearer;
But whilst I wept I found a newer friend,
And dearer.

And thus I learned old pleasures are estranged
Only that something better may be given,
Until at last we find this earth exchanged
For heaven.

BABY HAS GONE TO SCHOOL.

The baby has gone to school; ah me!
What will the mother do,
With never a call to button or pin,
Or tie a little shoe?
How can she keep herself busy all day,
With the little "hindering thing" away?

Another basket to fill with lunch,
Another "good-by" to say,
And the mother stands at the door to see
Her baby march way;
And turns with a sigh that is half relief,
And half a something akin to grief.

She thinks of a possible future morn,
When the children, one by one,
Will go from their homes out into the world
To battle with life alone,
And not even the baby be left to cheer
The desolate home of that future year.

She picks up garments here and there,
Thrown down in careless haste;
And tries to think how it would seem
If nothing were displaced;
If the house were always as still as this,
How could she bear the loneliness?

Our Story Teller.

REWARDED.

"Yes, Miss Heywood; I took the unpardonable liberty of placing Miss Ireton on canvas in the guise of my favorite Scottish Mary. I couldn't help it. We painters are queer mortals, you know. Once in a life-time we come across a face, idealize it, and forever more it is the basis of all our productions," and Hugh Rutherford gazed with something more than a painter's admiration on the face of his Scottish Mary.

"Birds of a feather flock together. I am positive now that this poor artist and my penniless cousin love each other. And I, the heiress of Heywood, have patronized—lionized him in vain,' were the thoughts that passed rapidly' through Miss Heywood's mind.

And Lucette Heywood was right. Hugh Rutherford came to spend a couple of months among the New Hampshire hills. A poor artist everybody thought him, and it pleased him to let everybody think so, but the arirstocratic Heywoods took a notion to patronize him—they took him up, and the artist found himself the lion of the place.

Miss Lucette Heywood was the most patronizing of this very aristocratic family, and she did all in her power to show the artist how very condescending she could be. The truth of the matter was Lucette was in love with the handsome artist and she was determined her cousin shouldn't have him.

'Dear Clarissa," said Lucette, sighing softly, "I shall miss her very much when she goes away."

"Is Miss Ireton going away?" and the artist looked up quickly.

For the last two months he had been living like a man in a beautiful dream, and this terrible awakening was too much for him.

He caught sight of Lucette's pale, blue eyes bent upon him pityingly. There was something in her glance that stung him to the quick, and he recovered his composure instantly.

'Strange I never heard anything of the approaching marriage," said the artist, quietly. "I say strange, because I thought in a small place like this affairs of that kind were freely discussed."

"So they are Mr. Rutherford; but you know Mr. Squires is quite an old gentleman, and when May and December marry people—well, we thought it best for Clarissa's sake to keep it a secret. You are the first I have mentioned it to outside of our own family."

Mr. Rutherford bowed in acknowledgement of the compliment.

"You will not fail us this evening, Mr. Rutherford?" said Lucette moving toward the door.

"Thank you, Miss Hepwood. I will put in an appearance, if possible," and the artist held open the door for Lucette, who left the cottage, fully satisfied with her morning's work.

"May God forgive you, Clarissa Ireton, for this summer's work. I set you up for an ideal—a being as perfect as mortal could be—but I find you, in reality, a woman, full of woman's weakness. Well, it's a lesson most of us have to learn sometime, and I suppose the sooner it is here and over the better," concluded the artist, bitterly.

"Clarissa, you look as if you had buried all your friends. Really it makes me nervous to watch you," said Lucette Heywood, as she noticed the cloud resting on the perfectly beautiful face of her cousin.

"Then don't watch me, Lucette," answered Clarissa.

"Oh, Lucette, I feel miserable."

"Why, you silly girl, how can you say so? And Mr. Squires about to offer you his hand and fortune!"

"I cannot accept Mr. Squires; I do not love him."

"The love part of the business can be dispensed with, Clarissa. Papa says you must marry him."

"My uncle dare not force me into such a marriage!" Clarissa was standing now, her graceful figure drawn to its full height. "But I will be a burden to him no longer. You remember when George Harvey was here last winter he said my voice would command a good position any time. He is acquainted with all the musical leaders in town, and I know he will be only too glad to do something for my father's daughter."

"What nonsense! Papa would lock you in your room if he thought you contemplated such a step. Now Clarissa, the whole trouble is, you have taken a fancy to that poor artist, Rutherford, and, take my word for it, he cares nothing for you. And if he did, what would it amount to? He will be too poor to marry for the next ten years unless he gets a rich wife."

"Lucette, I have never done anything my conscience did not approve of; I can not do it now."

"And, verily, you shall receive your reward. And Lucette laughed derisively.

"You may laugh, Lucette, but I believe those who persist in following the dictates of their conscience are always rewarded."

That night Lucette moved among her guests with a bitter disappointment gnawing at her heart. She had received a note from Mr. Rutherford regretting his inability to attend, as business called him away without delay.

"I wonder if what I told him about Clarissa had anything to do with his going away. I am glad she has the sulks to-night. If she were here she would surely notice my disappointment. She keeps her room to escape Squires. But it won't do; papa will break her obstinate will yet." And with this thought Lucette consoled herself.

"Hallo, Rutherford, old boy! Where have you kept yourself for the last century?"

"Ah, George my friend! I'm glad to see you." And Hugh Rutherford and George Harvey stood on the common and had a hearty shake hands.

"You are not looking well, Hugh. Working hard, I suppose? Well, for the life of me I cannot tell why a man of your means does it."

"Oh, I like work. I hope Miss Harvey is well?"

"Quite well. Come up and dine with us this evening. We have a charming addition to our family circle—a young lady whose face would make one of your pictures famous, and whose voice equals the best you ever heard at the opera house.

"I know just such a young lady, and I never wish to know another one."

"Rutherford, that sounds like a man disappointed in love,' laughed George Harvey. This young lady was obliged to leave her relations because they wished to force her into a marriage that was very distasteful to her. She came here, thinking to earn her living by singing, but my wife and I wouldn't hear of such a thing! When her father was living he was a very good friend to me."

That evening Mr. Rutherford presented himself at the Harvey mansion and was shown into the parlor where a young lady sat by the window reading.

She looked up as he entered, and with a glad cry came forward to meet him.

Hugh Rutherford stood still overwhelmed with surprise.

It was Clarissa Ireton's history he had heard to-day, and he thought her married to old Squires.

"Are you not glad to see an old friend, Mr. Rutherford?"

"I can not tell you how glad, Clarissa," and Hugh stepped forward and clasped both her hands in his.

DUTIES REDUCED BY REPUDLICANS.

One of the Democratic party's favorite modes of attempting to impose upon uninformed voters is to assert that our present tariff is a "war" tariff, and that the Republicans never have consented and never will consent to change it. How false such assertions are the Nashua (N. Y.) Telegraph very neatly shows in this compact statement of some of the tariff changes for which the Republican party is responsible:

The Republican party reduced the duty on steel rails from $28 to $17.

The Republican party abolished the duty on anthracite coal and reduced the duty on bituminous from $1.25 to 75 cents per ton.

These are some of the things which the Bourbon shriekers about the "war tariff" refer to.

THE QUEEN CITY.

Her Centennial Anniversary—About the Street and Population.

Correspondence of the Altoona TRIBUNE.

CINCINNATI, October 9.—The city of Cincinnati, which is now celebrating its centennial, has 300,000 inhabitants and has a river front of from thirteen to fifteen miles. You can travel for miles and see scarcely any wooden buildings. Immense edifices of brick and stone tower to the height of seven an eight stories and costly architecture beautifies certain streets for miles. Every street in the city and even the alleys are paved with either granite, asphalt or cobble-stones. The granite used comes from Georgia and is in the form of square blocks about four by six by eight inches and probably larger. The streets where this granite is used were first dug out, filled in with fine stones and cement and these blocks of granite were placed on edge, fine sand settled into the spaces between them and gas tar poured over the surface. After this more sand was scattered on the top. The streets arranged in this way are supposed to be water proof. The asphalt streets are much smoother, but will not last more than a few years until repairing is necessary. The cobble-stone streets are fast giving way to those of granite and asphalt. What a glorious thing it would be for your city if only macadamized streets were in vogue.

A fine suspension bridge spans the river at this place, connecting Cincinnati and Covington, Ky. The round-trip ticket over this bridge costs you six cents if you walk; we suppose if a man could run right fast he might get over cheaper, providing the tollman could not catch him. Other fares rate accordingly. Large steamboats ply on the river. It was the pleasure of your correspondent to step aboard one of these river steamers that is used expressly for towing coal barges. This boat's "run" is from this city to a point 200 miles up the river, and its time one way is seven days, using 500 bushels of coal every twelve hours. The load it pulls consists of eighteen coal barges which contain all the way of from 3,000 to 12,000 bushels or an average of 75,000 bushels for each boat. This would make for this river steamer the immense load of 135,000 bushels, or 5,400 tons. Other boats are used for hauling passengers and their time from here to Pittsburg, a distance of almost 400 miles by water, is three days. Of course, the time is longer if fog interferes. The original name of the city which is celebrating its one hundredth anniversary, was Losantiville, and the ground on which it stands was owned by three men. Today the value of its manufacturing industries is $225,000,000 a year, giving work to 110,000 people. The total trade of the city for this year will reach about $725,000,000.

Many of the workingmen are idle at present. A large Republican parade passed over the principal streets on last Thursday evening. For the past three years the city has been giving from three to five hundred republican majority, but this year the majority will be larger.

A GIRL'S COMPOSITION ON BOYS.

This composition reads very much as if it had been written by a "girl" about forty years old, or by a boy forty-five. It may be, however, that the girl who wrote it was a "really and truly" girl nevertheless. What do you think?

"Boys are men that have not got as big as their papas, and girls is young women that will be young ladies by and by. Man was made before woman. When God looked at Adam he said to himself, "Well I guess I can do better if I try again," and then he made Eve. God liked Eve so much better than Adam that there have been more women than men ever since. Boys are a trouble. They are wearing on everything but soap. If I had my way, half the boys in the world would be little girls, and the rest would be dolls. My papa is so nice that I guess he must have been a little girl when he was a little boy."

A POLICEMAN CRUSHED.

There was a jam of people at the corner of King and Yonge streets, and the crossings were blocked by street cars. A policeman who had not taken careful stock of the situation lifted up his voice and shouted, "Move on!" A citizen with a better knowledge of the position suggested that the officer should order the horses to move on.

And what would we do with the jackasses! queried the cop.

You could make policemen of them, replied the citizen.

The crowd laughed loudly, the cop looked surprised and a little grieved and dropped his head to think and did not come out of his meditation until the cars and the crowd had moved on of their own accord.

—Many newspapers are asking the question: "Is marriage a failure?" and are devoting columns of space to discussions of the question. The learned pastor of the M. E. church recently devoted two sermons to the subject "Courtship and Marriage," which by the way, we were not privileged to hear. However, we guess he took the position that marriage will be a success if entered into properly. Now we never had experience in a matrimonial way, but we can answer at once: "Of course, marriage is not a failure. Only, be a little careful in committing matrimony. Don't rush into it as if the entire supply of marriagable people is exhausted and this is your last chance. You wouldn't buy a house that has no roof, merely because it has a bay-window. So don't marry a girl merely because she has beauty. Wait till you find out whether she also has brains." We could give more similar advice, but space will not permit.

Prudence! Prudence!

In medication, as in aught else, prudence should be our guide. Yet thousands cast it to the winds. Every new nostrum finds its patrons, the medical empirics of every false school have their gulls. Every change in the gamut of humbug is rung successfully—for a time at least—the notes being furnished by the credulous. In happy contrast to the many advertised impostures of the day stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, now in its third decade of popularity, approved and recommended by physicians, indorsed by the press of many lands, sought and prized by invalids everywhere. It is an ascertained specific for and preventive of malarial diseases, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, checks the growth of rheumatism and neuralgia, is a peerless invigorant and useful diuretic. Nervous people benefit by it.

It contains about 30,000,000 feet of timber, about one third pine. Work will be commenced at once to operate it, and the town of Big Run, where it is to be cut, will have a boom in consequence.

THE DICTIONARY IN THE SCHOOL-ROOM.

Being interested in all that pertains to the success and usefulness of our public schools, we would call the attention of educators to the value of early training in the use of language and the need of more thorough instruction in the knowledge of Words. We mean the English language and for the most part, good old Anglo-Saxon Words

We are constrained to believe that in far too many schools the ability to name words rapidly as they occur in the reading lesson, in the geography or the history is allowed to suffice as the full measure of instruction in the department of language, and the pupils thus pass to other fields without the ability to either correctly spell or properly pronounce the words they have used, and with no knowledge at all of their true signification or wealth of meaning.

The derivation or history of a word as found in the dictionary often opens up a most delightful field for study and investigation, and through this the learner's ambition to attain greater power and fluency in the use of words might be incited. We believe that the learned man is most clearly distinguished from the ignorant by his greater command of language and wider knowledge of the power of words. What better field can their be, then, for the development of a greate usefulness on the part of public schools than through a larger and more intelligent study of our own vocabulary?

Fortunately we have a standard authority for the meaning and use of English words, a recognized and universally conceded court of last resort, an open "Webster," where are recorded for the use of all, the decisions of the best writers and speakers upon the correct usage of every item that goes to make up the beautiful whole of our mother tongue.

We believe that our public schools will attain a greater usefulness, and be more successful in teaching language just in the ratio that they send their pupils to the dictionary with more frequency, teaching them to study its record more intelligently and abide by its decision more steadfastly. It needs no argument to prove that every schoolroom should be supplied with a copy of Websters Unabridged Dictionary, as the foundation of improved language work. As a further aid to this desirable end, we can make no better recommendation than that every pupil should acquire the habit of constant reference to an unabridged dictionary by having at his desk a copy of an abridged edition of Webster, and that every teacher should be competent to give instructions in its proper use.

Without disparaging the other abridgements, we regard Webster's Academic Dictionary as the best of all for the hourly use of pupils, and when it is remembered that its usefulness will survive the pupil's school days, and in the absence of the unabridged, become the family dictionary, it is not too much to say that it should be found on the desk of every pupil in our schools above the primary grade.

WORLD-ENGLISH:

THE UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE 25 cents.

Every one has heard of the butcher who, after a long search for his knife, at last found it in his mouth: so speakers of English having been seeking for a universal language, when, lo! it is in their mouths. The intelligibility of English words has been obscured by a dense mist of letters. This is now dispersed by A. Melville Bell, who has already Won a world-wide reputation through his invention of "Visible Speech," the great boon to deafmutes. Professor Bell calls this new discovery of his "World-English," and the result is a language which cannot fail to meet with acceptance, and at once supersede the supposed necessity for "Volapuk," or any other artificial language. No language could be invented for international use that would surpass English in grammatical simplicity, and in general fitness to become the head of the world. It is already the mother tongue of increasing millions in both hemispheres, and some knowledge of the language is demanded by all educated populations on the globe. Social and commercial necessities require that the acquisition of this knowledge shall be facilitated, and it is believed that Professor Bell's invention has removed the last impediment English becoming the universal language, for which, vage duesires have been entertained, although hitherto only futile efforts have been made. "Worlds-English" and "Hand-book of World-English" can be had of all booksellers, or will be sent for 50 cents, post free by that publisher.

Farmers often deceive themselves by thinking they cannot afford to buy a horse blanket. When horses are not blanketed in cold weather, if they keep in good condition, they must eat more to keep warm than a horse blanket would cost. When spring comes a horse that has been blanketed all winter is usually worth $50 to $100 more than one which has not been blanketed. It is money in the farmers pocket to blanket his horses. The S-A horse blanket manufacturers, whose attractive advertisements are appearing in our paper, are filling a long felt want among farmers by making strong horse blankets which wear well. No cloth is more deceiving than horse blanket cloth, for weak blankets which will not wear can be made to look as well as strong ones. This firm is wise in using printer's ink to tell farmers how they can buy a good blanket, and in selecting the columns of this paper which has a large circulation throughout the county.

The profits of gardening, whether it be fruit culture, floriculture or vegetable gardening, not only in direct money returns, but also in health, happiness and beautiful surroundings are, taken altogether, greater than those of plain farming and greater than those of most other pursuits. The taste for and the practice of gardening has been far less in this country than in Europe Indeed, most of our commercial gardeners are of Euripean birth and training. But now gardening is rapidly increasing in America, as shown, for example, by the marked success of The American Garden of New York, now acknowledged to be the foremost monthly horticulture periodical in the world. So great has been its success, and so earnest the response on the part of the public to its very improvement, that it has outgrown its price ($1.00), and after January 1st it is proposed to make it a $2.00 magazine in cost as it has been in quality for some time. It is announced, however, that all who wish can still subscribe at the present price, for as many years as desired.

THE question: "What Makes Baby Cry so?" is discussed by Dr. Patton in the September number of BABYHOOD, and if it is not finally solved, at least several valuable suggestions are offered to perplexed mothers. "The Right and Wrong Use of Drugs," by Dr. Crandall, is an equally interesting article. It discriminates clearly between drugs that may be safely used in the home treatment of the minor ailments of children and those which are only safe in the physician's hands. An editorial paragraph enters a vigorous protest against the disseminat on of a certain class of pseudo medical literature professing to teach "painless child-birth" through the avoidance of "bone-forming foods." The dangerous consequences of following this pernicious advice are pointed out. Other medical topics discussed are: "A Confirmed Habit of Stumbling," "Night sweats After Confinement, "Worms," "Removing a Birth Mark," etc., etc. An unusually large number of illustrated "Nursery Helps and Novelties"—including a hammock for indoors, a medicine pocket, a combination of bath-tub and cot bed, a novelty crib—as well as interesting letters on Helping Nature Curl the Hair," A Wasting Baby," "The Injustice of Haste," etc., etc go to make up a number of BABYHOOD which ought to be found in every well-regulated nursery. 15 cents a number; $1 50 a year. EX PRESIDENT ARTHUR

Died of Bright's disease of the kidneys. So have scores of other brilliant public men. Dr. Edwards, editor of the New York Medical Reporter, says that this disease is growing more common and fatal daily. People have it without knowing it, until a cure is impossible. It arises from poison in the blood. The kidneys and liver fail to act, the poison rises finally to the brain, causing convulsions and death. Its first symptoms are dullness in the head, wandering pains about the body, especially in the small of the back, loss of appetite, strength and ambition, and by dropsical swellings which show the disease to be rapidly increasing. The only cure is a medicine that will stimulate the liver, kidneys and skin to throw off the poison and then act upon the bowels to carry the foul waste matter out of the system. Bear in mind that any kidney affection, neglected, soon runs into Bright's disease. DR. BROWN'S SARSAPARILLA cures it in a very simple and effective way. It sweeps through the corrupted circulation like a current of fresh air through a room filled with gas. It cleans the natural outlets and expels the deadly element before it has time to do further mischief. One week's use of it will satisfy you of the truth of what we say.

Mr. Carleton P. Williams, of Amesbury Mass., writes: "I had Bright's disease of the kidneys, and made up my mind to die. The best physicians had treated me and done no real good. At this time you presented me with a bottle of BROWN'S SARSAPARILLA. I used six bottles and consider myself a well man." This splendid remedy may be God-send to you. If you have the slightest fear of this dread disease resort at once to

A SCIENTIFIC SOLUTION.

A gentleman at the Russell House was telling a story, supposed to be funny, to a friend yesterday. At last, after many artistic touches, he reached and exploited the point, when he was met with a stare of blank non-comprehension.

Do you know what I think? asked the disgusted narator.

No, I do not?

I think that the operation of the attraction of gravitation has been suspended in your case.

What do you mean? asked the other.

You can't tumble.

DON'T SCOLD

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way? It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued its use and am now well."

Tea.

"The cup which cheers but does not inebriate."

We have had considerable experience in buying and selling tea, and have always found that much of the tea that is put upon the market is poor stuff. That is no doubt one reason why the people of this town and county use more coffee than tea, yet it is a fact that pure tea is one of the healthiest beverages that has come into common use among the people of the world. There are certain diseases that prevail in certain countries to considerable extent, diseases of the stomach and kidneys that do not prevail to so large an extent among communities where more tea is drank. We will not say that it is the coffee that is the cause of this, but will leave that for the physician to determine. We only state a fact, draw your own conclusions and we believe that notwithstanding all that has been said about colored teas, etc., that after all tea has been as a whole one of the most invigorating and healthful drinks that has come into common use, and when it is perfectly pure nothing is better. To secure a good article and one put up in the best way we have secured from the Japan tea syndicate of Yokahama and Hiogo Japan two of their best brands of Japan tea, put up in their Pertection tea cans.

This tea is put up in these cans in Japan by a patent process which retains all the virtue of the tea leaf and is not touched by human hands, therefore is perfectly clean, and here we will give a short history of the Pertection tea can.

Not long ago, a number of firms largely interested in the Japan Tea culture, determining to supply the American pnblic with PURE TEAS, which could not be adulterated, mixed or otherwise tampered with between exporter and consumer, obtained the controll of the PERFECTION TEA CAN as the most suitable package for their purpose. This can consisting of sheet tin pressed wholesale by machinery, merely takes the place of, and costs no more than, the ordinary lead lining of bulk chests; and furthermore by special act of the Treasury Department at Washington (August 7th, 1882), it is admitted to pass the Custom House at all American ports DUTY FREE.

Having thus secured a package much handier, just as cheap, and forming a much better protection for the tea than the ordinary bulk chest, (whose preservative functions are lost as soon as the lead lining is cut) the exporters determined that the advantages of this package should be enjoyed not by ONE class of consumers but by ALL and are therefore shipping teas of ALL GRADES to suit EVERY PURSE and EVERY PALATE in these cans, subject to the proviso that ALL these teas are PURE, and NONE below a fixed standard of quality. The close and compact structure of the can accounts for the aroma and bouquet of the tea remaining as fresh as when the lid was pressed on at the time of packing, the very air of Japan being enclosed along with the leaf.

NOTE.—See that the tea in cans purchased by you are stamped on the bottom "Perfection Tea Can," as only such packages have the exporters' guarantee of purity, good quality, and of having been cured by the Perfection Process (Patented)....the only patent ever issued for the curing of tea.

The Japan Tea syndicate of Yokohama send this message to their American patrons, the retail merchant.

We would respectfully remind those merchants to whom we export pure teas in Perfection Tea Cans, that in spite of the pains we have taken to purchase the particular quality ordered by them, and the care we have exercised in curing the leaf by the Perfect Process, and afterwards preventing its deterioration by packing it, while hot, into the cans, our efforts will still be unavailing, unless the consumer pays as much attention to infusing, after buying, as he has done to buying the pure leaf from you in the first instance. We would, therefore, respectfully suggest the propriety of submitting to each of your patrons our advice, which, if followed, will certainly insure appreciation of the true merite of your brand of tea.

They therefore offer the following ten commandments.

1st. Use only tea that is well protected by being kept in tight cans.

"Tea is an article so subject to deteriortion that its quality cannot be relied on unless purchased and kept in a tight can. As the Japan Tea Syndicate exports no poor or low grade teas in the Perfection Tea can the consumer is assisted in his selection of a Tea.

2. USE ALWAYS A UNIFORM QUANTITY OF TEA:-

One tea spoonful for each person is considered a fair proportion by most, but having once settled upon a fixed quantity it should be constantly maintained.

3. BE SURE THAT THE TEA-POT IS CLEAN:-

Japan earthen ware tea-pots are preferred.

4. HEAT THE TEA-POT BEFORE INFUSING:-

This practice ensures the full effect of the boiling water.

5. Use soft water in preference to hard:-

6. Use only boiling water:-

The water should be boiled fresh before use. Water that has been boiling for any considerable time affects the tea with what we in Japan, where purity and delicacy of flavor are appreciated, characterize as a "brackish" taste.

7. Steep the leaves 7 to 10 minutes:-

Longer steeping makes the infusion harsh and spoils its flavor.

8. Never boil tea:-

If however, you insist on boiling the leaves, buy only the cheapest tea, as by boiling the leaves you will never appreciate the true merit of a Perfection Canned Tea.

9. Use neither sugar nor milk with tea:-

If custom or habit demands this addition, use good refined sugar and cream.

10. Encourage the efforts of the association formed to ensure the American public obtaining an article pure as in Japan by insisting on your merchant furnishing you a pure article and one that has not been allowed to be exposed in such a manner as to hurt its quality."

We offer these suggestions of the Japan Tea Syndicate as perhaps of value to some of our customers and also to show to them the effort that is being made to supply the American market with a good pure article.

REMEMBER:

While the Perfection Tea Can is a guarantee of the Purity of the contents, and also that the tea contained therein has been cured by the Perfection Process, though the style of packing is uniform, the Grades of the Tea are at different prices, according to quality—With the compliments of The Japan Tea Syndicate, Yokohama and Hiega, Japan.

The Blossom Tea one of the Japan teas we offer consists entirely of the earliest picked (and therefore the tenderest) uncolored leaves of the tea plant. This is justly held to be the cause of the remarkable delicacy of flavor which distinguished this Brand of Tea, which is sold at one dollar per pound.

The White Cross is also a fine grade of Japan Tea and is sold at 80 cents a pound. These are put up in the perfectios tea can. We have also a fine grade of Japan tea at 60 cents a pound but this is in bulk. Lovers of young Hysonwill find at the Eureka Grocery an article that will give them perfect satisfaction and at as low or lowor price than same grade can be found elsewhere. This is Chinese tea and of course is put up in the old way. We have also Oolong on bulk and the Formosa brand of Oolong in tin cases very fine. Our English Breakfast tea it is impossible to excell and is put up in tin cases also. These teas are all fine goods. We have assumed so far that the Bellefonte and Centre Co. market would demand at least a fair article in this line of goods, We can however obtain cheaper teas if we find there is a demand for them though we do not intend to handle worthless stuff at any price. We would earnestly request those who use good tea to call and inspect our stock as we feel confident that you will be pleased with it.

THEY WERE MISLED.

Chicago Strikers Were Deceived by Their Trusted Leaders.

THE TROUBLE NOT OVER.

The Men Did Not Understand the Agreement, and Another Outbreak Is Not Improbable—A Small Riot. One Man Injured.

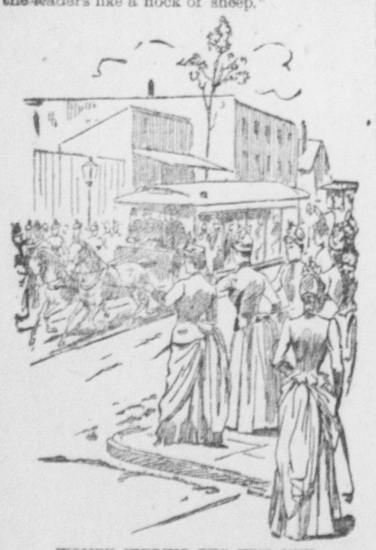
CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—If the strike of the North Side conductors and drivers is over, the excitement attending it is not. Another riot at the Kroger street barn shows that the danger of serious disturbances of the peace still threatens this, and in fact all other portions of the city, and the feeling on both sides is quite as bitter as it was while the strike was in progress. Even the women join in the exhibitions of discontent, and as the cars, many of which are manned by new men, whirl past with officers on the platforms, the wives and sisters of the strikers stop and jeer, and cry "scab" and "rats" at the imported workmen.

The conductors and drivers of the North Side carmen section met in the hall corner of North and Clybourn avenues. There was a large attendance. Mayor Boldenweek, of Lake View, and George Schilling made speeches, counseling moderation on the part of the men and telling them to wait until their means had been exhausted before resorting to another strike. The men declared both before and during the all night meeting that had they fully understood the features of the compromise agreement they never would have declared the strike off or accepted the terms agreed upon by the conference committee. Even the members of the committee declared there had been a misunderstanding. The report circulated before the meeting began that twenty-five of the old carmen are to be displaced had a soothing effect upon the men generally.

Some of the speakers advocated a stay of action until after Nov. 15, when the new system begins. By the abolishment of the set car system it is said at least 100 new men must be employed, and those of the strikers who are disposed to view the matter with coolness say that by that time all the men now out of employment will be given new places, and thus the whole matter settled satisfactorily. A committee was appointed to wait on Mr. Yerkes and get his interpretation of the agreement finally.

At the Lake View council meeting Mayor Boldenweek presented a communication saying the North Side street railway company had forfeited its charter in Lake View, because for nine days it had not run cars every fifteen minutes during the day, as required by the ordinance. The communication was referred to the mayor and city attorney.

Mr. Yerkes said that a proper statement of the terms of settlement had not been published. He asserted that the striker's committee did not care to put the facts before the men when reporting after the conference. The agreement was that after providing for the new men there would be three-fifths of the places still vacant, and the time of this remainder was to be divided impartially between all the old men, with a 6 per cent. increase in wages. This means, he said, that the old men who were making $16 a week would now make $10.16. "The men do not know even now," continued Mr. Yerkes, "what the true agreement is. They do not know what they are doing. They are led by the leaders like a flock of sheep."



WOMEN JEERING THE NEW MEN.

The following statement is furnished the United Press by President Yerkes, of the North Chicago Street Railroad company:

"It appeared when the men got to the barns of the North Chicago Street Railroad company in the morning that they did not understand the terms of the settlement, and when the men at the Kroger street barn found the new men were to take out the cars a small riot took place. When the cars started off the old employes followed them and assaulted three of the drivers, injuring one quite severely. Application was made by the company to the police department, and a police officer was placed on each car, and they are now running in that way. At the other car barns everything was quiet.

"After getting through with the consultation and making the arrangement with Mr. Yerkes, the committee went to the strikers' hall and there reported that they had secured an advance in wages, and that all the old men were to be taken back. This created great enthusiasm, but the fact has developed that, while all the men, with the exception of those engaged in rioting, returned to the employ of the company, the new men who were engaged during the strike and who run quite a number of cars are kept in the places of the old men. As these new men amount to 201 and there were 538 places filled by the old men, it leaves 337 places for the 388 old men to fill. When this was ascertained it caused much dissatisfaction, and much fault was found with the committee for making that sort of an arrangement. The result in word is this:

"The old men will only get about three-fifths time, and a man who made $16 a week will now make $10.16. As the old men leave the employ of the company the opportunity will be better for those that are left to make more time.

"The leaders have been endeavoring very hard to show the old men that they led them in a strike that was for their benefit, but the feeling among them is growing very bitter as they see the result. Some of the men declare they want nothing more to do with labor organizations, particularly when they are run by the kind of people who are leading them in this city."

Big Oil Works Burned.

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 17.—The oil works of the Standard Oil company at this place have burned down and will be a total loss, which will probably amount to half a million dollars.

EXTENSIVE BURGLARIES.

Elizabethport, N. J., Excited Over a Series of Bold Thefts.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 17.—Excitement runs high here over another series of burglaries committed during the night, all but one of the perpetrators of which escaped.

The residences of Christian Frederick, foreman in the Singer company's works; Surrogate's clerk David Parrot, and M. Blanche, a prominent storekeeper, were entered. Sealskin sacks, jewelry and money were stolen to the aggregate of several thousand dollars.

Mrs. Blanche heard a noise during the night, and, going downstairs, was confronted by a masked burglar, who pointed a pistol at her head and threatened to shoot her if she made an outcry.

She cried out and dropped down in a faint. The thief escaped by dropping from the second story window.

Two negro thieves broke into a car on the Central road, filled several bags with oats and were dragging them away, when the police arrived. One of them, Milton Jackson, was caught. The other escaped.

BOULANGER AGAIN.

He Has Finally Decided That Dignity Is More Impressive Than Turbulence and Will Act Accordingly.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The reassembling of the chamber of deputies brings Gen. Boulanger again prominently before the French republic. His appearance in his seat with the reindorsement of his constituents made him the object of general attention, and his silence on the subject of revision of the constitution when the government's bill was introduced caused some surprise, in view of the fact that all of his political campaigns have been conducted upon a platform demanding precisely this thing, though without the saving clauses which Premier Floquet embodied in his bill to prolong the ministerial career of himself and his colleagues.

The fact that Gen. Boulanger took no part in the brief discussion upon the matter of referring the bill, coupled with his recent seclusion, is generally accepted, however, as evidence that he has learned wisdom from experience, and will, for a time at least, substitute a policy of dignified reticence for the noisy and pyrotechnical one upon which he began his political career, and which resulted in complete failure.

Boulanger is no doubt by this time aware that he cannot hope to ride into power as a legislator upon a wave of turbulence, and also convinced that his efforts to achieve his restoration to active military service by abetting disorder on the part of his friends will be fruitless. In order to accomplish either he must invite rather than repel the confidence of the stable men of France, and this it is believed he is resolved to do.

The enormous majorities by which he was returned to the chamber stamp him as the unquestionable representative of the voters of the department he has chosen to sit for, and this fact is of itself sufficient to insure his importance as a member of the body, aside from his personal popularity and military prestige. He already has many stanch and valuable adherents among his colleagues, and it remains solely with himself whether he will add to their number sufficiently to become the leader of a great party, or diminish them until his influence shall be comprised in his individual vote.

Harrison Wants an Accounting.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 17.—Walter H. Harrison, formerly of Baltimore, has caused the arrest of W. E. Collier, manager of the bank of British North America, on the ground that Collier, after selling in London nearly $1,500,000 worth of Northern and Western railway bonds, failed to account to Harrison for his share. An injunction has been issued against the transfer of the bonds and Harrison now seeks to force an accounting. Collier gave $25,000 bail, and he will be permitted to go to Colorado for his health on the pledge of his bondsman to produce him in court May 1, 1889.

One Deserter Kills Another.

CHEYENNE, Wy. T., Oct. 17.—Privates Davis and Yarden, members of the Seventeenth infantry, stationed at Fort Russell, near this city, left the post on a hunting trip without leave. A squad sent after the runaways came upon them crawling through the grass near a lake after ducks. An order to surrender startled both. Davis ran towards the water and was wading, when Yarden in a nervous fright discharged both barrels of his fowling piece. The charge took effect in Davis' back, killing him almost instantly. A military inquest is in progress.

An Electric Light Monopoly.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 17.—The Fort Wayne Jenny Electric Light company has made arrangements for consolidation with the Thompson-Houston company of Boston. These are two of the strongest concerns in the country, and it is their intention to absorb all of the other companies. R. T. McDonald, general manager of the Fort Wayne company, is at the head of the movement.

A Wheat Blockade Threatened.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 17.—There are now over 1,000 cars of wheat standing on tracks here, the yards being badly crowded. Hardly two cars grade alike, and the elevators refuse to receive it, not having enough special bins. The Manitoba refuses to let its cars leave its own track unless the wheat is paid for in advance, and eastern roads have no cars to spare. A blockade is threatened.

A Western Union Manager in Jail.

LARAMIE CITY, Wy. T., Oct. 17.—Manager Block, of the Western Union Telegraph company, was fined $100 and placed in jail for twenty-four hours for refusing to produce dispatches bearing upon a suit in Judge Sanfley's court. The company has ordered Block to stand firm and make a test case, and the judge says Block must stay in jail until the fine is paid.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

HIGHLAND, Ills., Oct. 17.—A boiler explosion nine miles north of here resulted in the instant death of one man and the serious, if not fatal injury of four others. Engineer C. Bobberman was the man killed. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

After the ceremonies of institution and installation had been concluded, the new lodge together with the visiting lodges paraded the streets of Unionville in full regalia, led by the Milesburg Cornet Band. When the parade was over all the members of the order—about one hundred and fifty—were invited to partake of a feast prepared by Mr. Lucas, the well known hotelist, under the direction of Lumen Lodge.

All those who had the opportunity of being present on this occasion will look back with pleasure to the time when Lumen Lodge was instituted, and it is to be hoped that her light will so shine that the good people of Unionville, whose reputation for hospitality extends far and wide, will appreciate the fact that this Lodge is an acquisition to the town in more ways than one.

Prohibition in Kansas.

From a letter to a gentleman in Bellefonte we take the following, which we commend to the special consideration of the people who question the ability or the desire of the Republican party to cope with the liquor traffic:

"Prohibition is a success in Kansas. It is true that at a few and very few places (can all be counted on the fingers of one hand) liquor can be had.

1st, In counties where the Democrats are in the majority and elect a whiskey man attorney. Of course, you are aware that in Kansas the Democrats are a whiskey party.

2d, where druggists are willing to perjure themselves and drinkers the same. To get liquor from a druggist a blank must be filed on oath stating that it is for medicinal purposes. Wichita and Leavenworth and this place (Topeka) sell liquor to perjured drinkers, but the law catches them occasionally and the violators go to jail. Where proof can be had violators of law are dealt with. Proof is necessary. Men steal horses in Pennsylvania on the same principle that men sell whiskey in Kansas. I most emphatically deny that the drug stores do a flourishing business and pronounce it false, except in a few places as before stated. I have traveled over a large portion of the State and fail to find an open saloon, or a place where you can buy liquor except "on the sly," and these places confined to not over a half dozen towns. Topeka has a population of 45000—the capital of the state—a growing city, and not a place to get a "drink." Once a while you may see a drunken man, but drunkenness is a crime. He is promptly arrested, imprisoned and fined. Those who want liquor can get it. Kansas City, Mo., is not far distant. Orders can be sent there and the liquor comes back, packed with lard in cans, with sugar in boxes, etc. Men can drink at home and get drunken, but he must not make his drunkenness public. Here drunkenness is looked upon as a disgrace and as degrading. To see a drunken man is a surprise and at once calls forth remarks which impress the young in an unfavorable manner."

ARE the people of York County in favor of the Mills tariff bill, free wool and free trade in one sixth of all the dutiable imports? We do not believe it. If York county farmers are for protection to their interests, want the internal tax taken off tobacco, want their brother farmers wood protected, want the home markets for that produce contined and enlarged, they can't vote for Colonel Maish's returned to Congress. He voted for and spoke for the Mills bill. For the same reason the workingman who is interested in getting plenty of work and good wages, can't vote for Colonel Maish and his free trade Mills bill. No matter what your politics have been, vote for your own interests this time.—York Dispatch.

THE calamity on the Lehigh Valley railroad near Hazleton on Thursday evening was appalling. Sixty-seven dead and one hundred injured was the disastrous result. The blame seems to attach to the men who were on the engine of the advancing section of the train. No allegation is made that they had been overworked which is really often the case. It has been stated that the engineer was asleep. Strange as it may seem, although the excursionists were returning from a temperance celebration, some of the passengers were drunk and it is suggested that the men on the engine were intoxicated. Passengers in the advancing section say they saw the train ahead of them and were surprised that their train did no slacken its speed. A careful investigation will be made and, ten to one, whiskey will prove to be the cause of it.

THE FOUNTAIN FOR OCTOBER.

is an attractive number, containing its variety. The departments are well sustained by contributions as follows:

Prof. Samuel Murse; Celebrated English Writers—VII; The Gap Nickel Mines; The Chemistry of Yeast; A Strange Fish; The Tapir; Clematis; The First Bible; Lalla Rookh; Psalms; A Day on the Columbia River; Wonders of the Yellowstone Park; Jean and his Pets; What Sort of Man will this Boy Make? Auntie's Band of Mercy; Civil Government—IV; The Moon Eclipsed; Literary Analysis; Question and answers; Music—The Birds; Literary Social.

YORK, PA.

THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE for October is an exceptionally brilliant number. It opens with a richly illustrated descriptive paper by Lieut. Walter S. Wilson, on the Seventh Regiment of New York, which introduces a series entitled 'America's Crack Regiment." Dr. William F. Hutchinson furnishes another of his charming South American papers, describing in this issue he Orinoco River. Another very interesting contribution is a summer drive, with pen and pencil, in the Valley of the Connecticut, by John R. Chapin.

Helen Strong Thompson contributes an illustrated paper on the Sacred Quarry in the Great Red Pipe stone Country, and Florence A. Davidson has an illustrated paper on Pioneer District Schools.

In addition to other valuable literary features are a series of papers on practical questions of the day.

A few of the many legitimate ways in which "The Surplus" can be utilized are forcibly shown by M. W. Hazen. Mr. Hazen's paper is a very forcible one; he makes a strong plea for a National Training School, and shows how it could be conducted. Mr. M. M. Estee has a paper showing the effect of Free Trade on Pacific Coast industries. Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, Chairman of the Women's National Republican Committee, argues that "Prohibition is not a National issue," and Mr. Enoch Ensley, of Tennessee, gives "A Southner's National View of Protection."

Dr. Wm. F. Hutchinson contributes his usual monthly paper, giving seasonable Health Advice, and Literature and Book Reviews receive special treatment.

The report in Science (weekly) of the great medical congress at Washington will be found of the greatest interest by every one who cares to know what is going on among the leading sanitarians of the country. This is the only reliable report published in any paper outside of the strictly medical journals. The abstract of Major Powell's report on the last year's work of the Geological Survey is the earliest information published of this important branch of the government investigations. This paper was never so full of news intended for those who do not pretend to a mastery of the mysteries of science; and we advise all who dont know it to send for sample copies. The publisher has recently combined with the publishers of The Forum, The Christian Union, and others, in a clubing scheme, which all reading-clubs should consider, and at the same time is offering large pay to subscription agents. Price $3.50 per year; clubs of four, $10.

The Swiss Cross, the popular science monthly, and patrons of the Agassiz Association, in its October number presents an unusual array of well-written and well-illustrated articles. It is a magazine that should find its way into every household as a corrective of to much fiction-reading. The publisher is now pushing the circulation, and seeks agents at what we consider unusually liberal compensation. Price $1.50 per year; clubs of six, $6.

SCIENCE AND THE SWISS CROSS $4.50 PER YEAR.

LIBERAL TERMS TO CANVASSERS.
LAFAYETTE PLACE, NEW YORK.

The excellence of HARPER'S MAGAZINE for October is apparent even from a hasty glance through its pages. These are short stories and long ones, sketches, "skits," poetry, and unsurpassed illustrations. The articles most striking, perhaps, are Mr. Theodore Child's "Limoges and its industries," and Z. L. White's description of "Western Journalism." These contain a great store of new information, and even the old facts are so presented that they strike the reader with new force. The portraits of Western editors will be scanned by the public with interest.

"Does Literature Pay?" is a question asked and answered by Eugene L. Didier in the September number of The Writer (Boston). Other bright and interesting articles in the same number of the magazine are: "Newspaper Social Personals," by Kate Brownlee Sherwood; "The Story of Rejected Manuscript," by E. B. Cheesborough; "New-York Newspaper," by Charles Fisk; and "Two Common Errors," by William T. Brigham. The Writer admirably fulfils its purpose of being helpful and interesting to all literary workers, and each number is filled with practical hints and suggestions adout the details of literary work that are well worth many times the price of the magazine to all who write. The September number is peculiarly rich in such matter. The Writer is published monthly by William H. Hills and Robert Luce, both on the editorial staff of the Boston Globe, and numbers many prominent people among its contributors. It costs ten cents a month, or one dollar a year. Address, The Writer, P. O. Box 1905, Boston, Mass.

PROTECTION RALLY.

Harrison Poles and Flags.

HOWARD IN GLORY.

Last Saturday the friends of protection of American labor had a grand rally at Howard, Although the day and evening were rainy and disagreeable, this fact did not deter the sturdy yeomanry of the country from assembling to hear the issues of the day discussed from a protection stand-point. There were delegations in attendance from Marion township, Curtin's Works, Eagleville and also from David Fortney's particular part of the world. The delegation from Eagleville was headed by the Eagleville Cornet Band, which discoursed some very fine music.

In the afternoon a Harrison and Morton pole was raised at B. Lauth's furnace and from its top the stars and stripes unfurled to the breeze amidst the shouts of the friends of protection.

Afterwards two very symmetrical Harrison and Morton poles were raised in the borough of Howard.

After supper a procession was formed in which were sixteen young ladies dressed in the National colors carrying the American flag, escorted by the Eagleville and Howard cornet bands, and upon its arrival at the Harrison and Morton poles, the National colors were run up and swung to the breeze amidst the cheers of those present. The bands then played "Rally round the flag" after which the procession started for the school house yard, when the meeting was called to order by Jacob Z. Long, Col. D. S. Dunham was made President, assisted by several Vice Presidents, Hayes Scheneck and W. R. Leathers were made secretaries.

W. F. Reeder, Esq. of Bellefonte, was introduced and delivered an eloquent, able and argumentative address upon the issues of the day, Mr. Reeder's address was interspersed with anecdotes and was listened to with deep interest, being frequently greeted with applause.

Capt. Kress, of Lock Haven, was introduced as being a gentleman who had previously met the democrat party upon the bloody fields of South Mountain, Antietam, Chancelorville, and other fields of contest and was still able to face the same party on the Pennsylvania soil.

Capt. Kress' appearance elicited three hearty cheers from the crowd. He gave a short and spicy official history of the man who, he asserted, accidentally exercises the office of President and who is controlled by a Solid South. He reviewed the history of the democratic party's action on the tariff and its former traffic in the souls and bodies of men, women and children. He also briefly reviewed the actions heretofore taken by the Republican party in favor of the freedom and happiness of the human family and showed how the people and country had prospered under its rule by its wise policy of education and protection to American labor. During his address he was frequently applauded and at its close was greeted with three cheers and a tiger.

NOTES.

The meeting was large and enthusiastic, but orderly and attentive and closed at fifteen minutes past 9 oclock.

The Eagleville Cornet Band presented a very nice appearance and executed very sweet music. The members are all gentlemen.

Capt. Kress, one of the orators, was sumptuously entertained by Mr. Curtis De Hass, a veteran of the late rebellion, and who left one of his arms on Southern battle field. Mr. Reeder, and his companion, Mr. Malin, were entertained by Mr. W. R. Leathers.

During the speaking Lucas Brothers store was closed as well as the ladies festival during the raising of the flag.

The committee of arrangements made a serious mistake by occupying so much time in marching exercises, causing delay beyond the time for opening the meeting.

The patriotic young ladies who carried the National colors in the procession were: Misses Essie Hensyl, Annie Hensyl, Edith Holter, Bertha Long, Elsie Long, Sallie Lucas, Annie Lucas, Carry Pletcher, Jennie Pletcher, Bertha Noll, Nannie Lucas, Ella Hall, Leah Hall, Minnie Smeltzer, Blanch Tipple and Elsie Bechdol.

Death of Dr. J. J. Wingate.

The Carbondale Leader, of Thursday, October 11, contains a notice of the death of Dr. J. J. Wingate, which occurred in the Lackawanna Hospital at Scranton on Tuesday, the 9th. Dr. Wingate was a dentist and formerly practiced his profession in this place. We copy the notice from the Carbondale Leader as follows:

The body of Dr. J. J. Wingate, the eldest son of Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Wingate, of this city who died from dropsy on Tuesday at the Lackawanna Hospital at Scranton, was brought to Carbondale yesterday afternoon. The deceased was a dentist and had followed his profession in Hyde Park for many years, where he had resided for the past fifteen years. The parents of the deceased came to Carbondale in 1871 from Bellefonte, this State, and in 1883 he took up his residence in Scranton. He was born in the village of Howard, Centre County, in 1851 and was therefore 37 years of age. He had never married.

Council Notes.

There was a meeting of council on Monday evening, but nothing of much importance was done.

Only five members—a mere quorum—were present.

The Street committee will arrange in regard to putting two crossings on High street, one in front of Centre County Bank and one in front of Harris' hardware store.

More light is wanted on the southern extension of Thomas street, near Mr. Mingle's house on Penn street and on Lewistown turnpike near Mr. Robert Hepburn's. Referred to Water committee.

Mr. Wm. Straub, Mr. H. A. McKee and Mr. Cherry want the water extended from Willow Bank street, out Holmes street to their properties. They will pay all the expenses connected with this extension. The water committee will have it in charge. The market fees in four weeks were $14.40.

A Bellefonte Gentleman's Great Invention.

Captain George Bayard, of this place, has sold the right to manufacture his new patent pavements in thirty counties of this State. He has also sold a few rights in other states. It is quite likely that he will receive a contract to lay his pavement through the Capitol grounds at Harrisburg. This is certainly a pleasant prospect for the Captain and undeniable testimony to the superiority of the pavement.

We also learn that he has been granted the exclusive right to introduce the pavement into Canada. The field of enterprise and profit in this direction is apparently very large.

Arnica & Oil Liniment is the best remedy known for stiff joints. For sale by F. P. Green.

A Superb Wedding Gift.

The present of the Bar of Centre county to Jno. M. Dale, Esq., and his lovely bride is one of surpassing beauty and costliness. It consists of a lovely array of solid silver table cuttlery, chased in the highest style of the engraver's art. The work upon it is exquisitely artistic, and flashes back the light as it rests in its suburb case of dark velvet. It must be carefully examined that its true beauty can be appreciated. Correctly it has been given the name "De Medici," in memory of Lorenzo de Medici the Magnificent who was the greatest citizen of the renowned Florentine capital in its days of most liberal learning and advanced art. He it was who gave Michael Angelo that chief of artists his greatest encouragement. But enough of history on the subject. Study the pieces. The central figure on each one differs from any other, while each is emblematic of something interesting in the world of learning.

—We are glad that the New York base ball nine captured the pennant, but the entire series of games and base ball in general are seriously injured in the estimation of all respectable people by having the ceremony of presenting the pennant on Sunday night. It was held at the Star Theatre, New York, last Sunday night. Such songs as "Two Lovely Black Eyes" were sung and the ceremonies were necessarily hilarious. We infer that our friend, Mr. John M. Ward, had nothing to do with it, for the account says: "John Ward's name aroused an enthusiasm that lasted several minutes, and loud were the calls for a speech, but the short stop did not respond."

—There is an active and prominent Democrat in Bellefonte, whose business place is not more than 200 feet from the Court House, who did not know there was a Democratic meeting in Bellefonte Saturday night until he read of it in the DAILY NEWS of Monday afternoon. The truth is, that neither the Republican nor Democratic citizens care to read anything except the DAILY NEWS and meetings that are not advertised in it will not be known.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Peculiar Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No To Itself other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a Peculiar Medicine, and is worthy your confidence.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

—The skill of Nature as a painter surpasses that of Rubens or any other artist. See how the mountain sides are now being painted. Each hour adds to the depth and brightness of color in crimson, yellow or russet brown. A new shade here or there adds to the effect each minute. We notice that Nature also can add a lustre to her creations which excels the best handiwork of the men who polish wood. Look at the horse chestnut when it is taken from its outside covering. It is wonderfully lustrous. Exposure to air, however, soon causes it to lose its remarkable beauty.

—A report by the Ontario Bureau shows that it appears that rainfall is diminishing and snowfall increasing, "for," says the report, "we had of rain 30 inches in 1880 and 17 inches in 1887, and of snow 44 inches in the former year and 77 in the latter. Thunder storms, oddly enough, are becoming less frequent than formerly. There were 47 in 1880, 30 in 1884 and 22 in 1887. But the mean temperature does not vary much. It has been as high as 46 and as low as 41. Last year it was placed at 44." We rather think that the report would be changed in regard to decreased rainfall if its author had resided in Bellefonte during the past two months.

Short and Long Courtships.

Daisy Dandelion, Essex, Ct., is perplexed over the question of short and long courtships, and wants our advice. Well, Daisy, it is hard to make a rule to fit every case, but in general we will say that long courtships are not advisable. Many women, pale, haggard, wan and wasted from long continued uterine ailments, are forced to banish all thoughts of marriage. Such unfortunate sufferers should know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, "bearing-down sensations," chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in the ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

For all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, take Dr. Pierce's Pellets.

"Well, Janet," said the facetious husband, whose wife had just discharged the hired girl, "are you going to bravely breast the waves of the domestic sea of troubles?"

"No," she answered, demurely, "I am only going to stem the currants."

SPREADING OUT.

Growth of the Collins' Brothers Furnace and the Buffalo Run Railroad.

Over Half Moon hill the smoke during the day and the fire at night tells of continual activity at the Collins' Brothers iron furnace. The iron is being made and sold as fast as possible and the necessity came for more rapid work to supply the demand. For more rapid work greater space in which to work was necessary and now a forty-foot addition is being built to the brick casting house. The quantity of iron on hand is nearly all disposed of and work is being done on large contracts. The shipment last month was extremely large—3400 tons. The shipments last week were the largest ever made in one week 1000 tons.

But this addition to the casting house is but a small part of the extensive improvements in progress. Across on the opposite side of the old fair ground, along the track of the Buffalo Run railroad, new buildings are being erected. They are a "round house" and car shops—the latter to be 70 by 40 feet. The railroad company are going to make their own cars and already have made twenty-one. When we remarked that twenty-one would seem to be an almost sufficient number for use we were informed that at least one hundred and fifty are needed for present use. Sixty are required to transport the material for the furnace. Morris' lime and coke operations give extensive shipments and all the coal used in the Buffalo Run valley is taken over these tracks.

This enterprise has transformed this entire region into a hive of the most animated industry. Quite an army of men are at work there. The workings of the furnace give the most perfect satisfaction and this fact gives promise that if the tariff is left undisturbed by the election of General Harrison and the defeat of the Mills bill the fondest predictions ever indulged in by this paper in reference to growth and prosperity of this region will be brought to pass.

Another Big Saw Mill.

Curwensville, Clearfield county, will soon have added to her other industries a saw mill 208 feet long by 108 feet wide with a daily capacity of making 100,000 feet of lumber, and will employ 100 men besides as many more in the woods.

The present officers of the company, which will do business under the name of the "Curwensville Lumber Company," are G. W. Hoover, President, Fred J. Dyer, Secretary and Treasurer, with the following stockholders: G. W. Hoover, W. V. Hughes, E. C. Humes, John S. Alley, W. H. Alley, Griffin Place, E. A. Irvin and Fred J. Dyer. This is a strong combination of capitalists who will see that the gigantic enterprise is pushed to completion and operated for their benefit and the benefit of the town.

Methodist Minutes of 1812.

Dr. J. M. Bunn, of 1308 Eleventh avenue, Altoona, says the Tribune, has in his possession a copy of the minutes of the several annual conferences of the Methodist Episcopal church for 1812, which is quite a curiosity. There were then but seven conferences in the Methodist Episcopal church. The Baltimore conference covered Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and part of Ohio. This region was served by William Butler and John Thomas, who were appointed to "Huntingdon and Moshannon." Rev. Seely Bunn, uncle of Dr. Bunn was a member of the Baltimore conference and was stationed at Winchester, Va., in 1812. He was the original possessor of the little volume herein spoken of, and it has been in the family ever since.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as a tonizing cordial and restorative tonic.

Nothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

The Congressional Question

The State Administration and the Course of Congressman Patton Cordially Approved by the Conferees.

CANDIDATE T. P. RYNDER RECOMMENDED TO THE SUPPORT OF REPUBLICANS.

Special to the DAILY NEWS.

DUBOIS, Clearfield Co., Oct. 13, 9.20 a. m.—The Republicnn conferrees of the 28th congressional district met at the Dubois House, Clearfield county, on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. L. M. Truxall, Esq., of Clearfield, was chosen chairman, and Edward T. Tuten, of Centre county, editor of the Bellefonte Republican, was chosen secretary. All the counties in the district were fully represented. Resolutions endorsing the State administration were passed by the confere ce and the course of Hon. John Patton, our present efficient congressman, was cordially commended.

Hon. T. P. Rynder, candidate for congress of the Union Labor party and state chairman of that party, was endorsed and he was recommended to the cordial support of all who favor protection to American industry and service pensions for the brave defenders of our country in her hour of supreme peril.

EDWARD .T TUTEN.

The Ladies in Pittsburg.

The ladies of Pennsylvania now assembled at Pittsburg in the State Convention of the W. C. T. U. are a representative body of women which perhaps cannot be equalled in intelligence by any other assemblage of ladies in this or any other country. The present State Convention is the largest ever held in this State, numbering about 800 ladies. We are glad to read in the reports that the Convention did not make the mistake of committing itself to the support of third party prohibitionists. The vote on the question as to whether Mrs. Foster of Iowa, should speak, decided the question, as Mrs. Foster is known to be strongly opposed to such a movement, although in her address she made no reference to it. Mrs. Swift, the President, is also opposed to it. Mrs. Foster delivered her address and those who did not care to listen to her went to another part of the city and listened to Rev. Sam. Small.

A First-Class Auctioneer.

We know our friend, Mr. John G. Dubbs, to be a first-class man in every respect and are very glad to insert the following card of commendatory of his abilities as an auctioneer:

We desire to say to the public that John G. Dubbs, of Bellefonte, was our auctioneer at the sale of the personal property of the late S. A. Stover, dec'd, and rendered entire satisfaction. We therefore take great pleasure in recommending him to all person's who are in need of an auctioneer.

Respectfully.
STOVER & HARSHBERGER,
Admrs.

—A pleasant surprise was given at the home of Emanuel Klepper on Pine street, Friday evening of last week. It was given in honor of Miss Bertha Haupt, of Bellefonte, sister-in-law of Mr. Klepper. There were about thirty couples present and made the streets re-echo with their laughter. A splendid time was had till the breaking of the "wee" hours. The party was prolific in beautiful ladies, and handsome young men. The supper that was served was simply grapesious, and had there bannana disciples of epicureans it were a veritable heaven.—Philipsburg Journal.

MANGLED TO DEATH.

An Accident on the Lehigh Valley Railroad Results in the Death of Forty Persons.

WILKESBARRE, October 10.—The rumor of a terrible accident near Penn Haven is confirmed. The fifth division of the Father Matthew excursion returning from Hazleton was wrecked and the cars piled in a shapeless mass, one being stood upon its end. All the cars were crowded and the fatalities will run into awful figures. All the physicians from White Haven and nearby points are at the wreck, as also the Lehigh Valley officials from this city. The number of killed is variously reported from twenty-five to eighty persons. The only information is from passengers on the Central railroad trains, who report a horrible condition of affairs, the groans of the wounded being heard across the river where the tracks of the Central run. At the depot here hundreds of people are gathered on the platform, many weeping for the safety of their friends supposed to be on the wrecked train. Nothing further than this is known here.

The road lies close beside the Lehigh river, a steep enbankment sixty feet high running down to the water. Several of the cars rolled down this and others were crushed against the cutting on the other side. Up to this writing (12:30 a. m.) no direct communication has been established with the scene of disaster and the railroad officials here. If they know anything they absolutely refuse to give any information.

LATER.—At 1 o'clock this morning reports about the accident are still very conflicting. It is known, however from dispatches received at the depot that the accident is quite as bad as at first reported and that at least thirty or more are killed. Nothing official can be obtained at the company's office, which is closed to reporters and all others. One train has been started from the wreck and is expected to arrive here about 4 o'clock this morning. Most of the injured are said to be from Scranton and Lackawanna county.

Stolen.

On Monday morning (Sept. 17) a man about five feet ten inches in height, with a sandy mustache, wearing a light suit of clothes and a light hat with a black band, rather fair or prepossessing, hired from liveryman Henry Schott of Duncannon, his best horse and buggy described as follows: Bald-face sorrel horse, 15 hands high, spavin in left hind leg, scar on left rump, he thinks both hind feet white, 12 years old, with a new harness and a good top buggy, the top being new. He claimed he wanted the rig to take his wife and child to his home near New Bloomfield, promising to return the same evening, or in case it rained, on Tuesday evening for sure. Mr. Schott offers a reward of $20 for the rig and $20 for the thief. Exchanges please copy.

—On October 19th Republican and the Democratic students of State College will have a joint debate on the question, "Which tariff policy will best promote the prosperity of the United States, the Republican or Democratic, as expressed in the tariff bills now before Congress, the two platforms adopted in 1888 and the letters of acceptance of their respective candidates?" The debaters on the Republican side are John Weiler, '89; Robert Swank, '89; and Gilbert Beaver, '89. Those who will support the opposite side are J. M. Waldron, '89; J. D. Hunter, '89; and G. Demming, '90. When the debate is concluded President George Atherton and Prof. L. F. Reber are expected to address the students on the same question.

A Brilliant Wedding in the West.

As will be noticed among the "Personal Pencilings" to-day Mr. and Mrs. Charles Valentine were arrivals on the train Thursday. The bride and groom are so well and widely known in Bellefonte that a description of the wedding will be read with interest. We copy the following account from the Omaha (Nebraska) Bee:

Charles Valentine of Atlantic city N. J., and Miss Mollie Larimer, of Omaha, niece of Judge Larimer, of Council Bluffs, were united in marriage by Rev. Louis Zanner on last Thursday evening. The wedding occurred at All Saints Episcopal church, and was in every way a brilliant event. Mrs. Nellie Bangs-Skelton, of Chicago, and a particular friend of the bride, played Mendelsohn's "Wedding March" as the bridal procession entered the church. First came twenty-one choristers in robes followed by the four ushers, J. M. Pusey, of Council Bluffs; Nick Kuehn, Jr., of Davenport; Dr. Charles Thomas and Fred A. Bangs, of Chicago. Following these were the bridesmaids—Miss Nellie Larimer, maid of honor; Miss Mamie Leonard, of Davenport, and Miss Lizzie Brown, of Council Bluffs. Last came the bride, leaning on the arm of Judge Larimer, who gave the bride away, and the groom accompanied by Mr. Richard Ryan, of Denver, as best man. After the ceremony an elegant reception was held at the residence of Dr. Larrimer, 826 Georgia avenue. All present were in full evening dress." Here follows a list of society people in attendance. The bride and groom have the congratulations and best wishes of the DAILY NEWS. May all of their future life be as bright as the gay autumnal foliage on the hills around Bellefonte.

State Convention of Y. M. C. A.

Three hundred delegates are in attendance at the State Convention of the Young Men's Christain Association in Allentown, representing fifty-three associations. H. K. Porter of Pittsburg, was named for President; Charles G. Brainard of Philadelphia, as Secretary, and James F. Burks, of Pittsburg, official stenographer.

The State Executive Committee made its report. It shows a remarkable growth in membership and number of buildings constructed. The total number of associations in the State is now 106; total value of all buildings owned by association, $927,000, with $49,000 worth of other real estate in addition to an endowment fund $8,500. The report concluded with the statement that State Secretary Taggart had offered his resignation to take effect on January 1 next. Nothing could have been more surprising and all sorts of rumors were afloat as to the cause, which is that Mr. Taggart is to assume the editorship of the Watchman, the recognized organ of the organization published in Chicago. Who will be Mr. Taggart's successor is not known, but Robt. A. Orr, of the Pittsburg Association is talked of. The election will be held this evening.

The next place of the convention will probably be New Castle, whose association has sent 15 delegates, who propose to capture the convention if possible.

Three Deaths.

Mrs. Sarah S. Stevenson, of Buffalo Run, died on Friday evening after a protracted illness. She was the widow of Mr Frank Stevenson, who was a brave soldier in the late Rebellion. Her age was about 50 years. She leaves one son, Mr. George Stevenson. The funeral took place on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock,

Mr. Wesley Lucas died last Saturday at 5 o'clock. He was about 20 years of age and the son of William Lucas, of Coleville. Funeral at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon.

The death of Mrs. Eliza Kearns, occurred on Thursday of last week. The lady resided with her sister, Mrs. Thomson, at Buffalo Run. While visiting at the old homestead at Farmer's Mills her illness and death occurred. There are many acquaintances of the deceased lady in this place. The funeral was held this morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Heshour officiating.

Some Foolish People

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will all wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which we will sell on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial size free. At all Druggists'.

—There was quite a large audience of young people in the Methodist Sunday-school room on Thursday evening. Rev. D. S. Monroe told them the purpose for which he designed the proposed organization. He expects to call another meeting for next Thursday evening, to which he will invite persons of all ages, and will probably make a permanent organization at that meeting.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Some of the Business on Tuesday Evening.

Principal David M. Lieb submitted his report for the first month. It is not necessary to give it entire. He said that the present condition of the schools "commends as wise the plan of holding final examinations and making promotions at the end of the Winter term instead of the end of the Spring term in June.

The total attendance at the stone building is 338, Miss Wright having the largest school—95 pupils. The number attendance at the brick building is 292, of which Miss Levy's school shows the largest enrollment of pupils 85. This, in addition to those in High School, completes a total of 703 pupils, which will increase until November.

In regard to the recent death of an esteemed member of the Board, the following expression was adopted:

Resolved, That in the death of S. A. Stover, a late member of this Board, we all realize the fact that, although he was the youngest member of this body, we also realize that his counsel was always wise and upon the side of right, and that in all our deliberations he was ever courteous and kind.

Although of strong convictions he always accorded the right of opinion to others who might differ from him upon any subject under discussion.

We feel that in the death of Mr. Stover this Board has lost a good and worthy member and it is with feelings of sadness that we assemble at this time, being the first regular meeting since his death, as we see the vacant chair and realize that we will never again see it filled by him.

The Board also passed the following:

Resolved, That the Board of Directors of Bellefonte District are under great obligations to Fairbanks & Co. and to their agent, W. T. Burnsides, for their generous gift of a fine counter scale. The help furnished our pupils in mastering the tables of weights will, we trust, make fast friends for the generous donors of this aid, among the coming merchants whose education will be advanced by its help.

For First Place.

A great amount of political engineering will be done by friends of candidates to secure for their man the first place on the ticket, and the best man will probably secure the coveted place. Then if indorsed by the majority of the people, the election is assured. —The New York World has the following: The leading bakers of the city have determined upon an advance in the price of bread, and a meeting to arrange for the general adoption of schedules has been called. They claim that the continued corner in wheat and the consequent steady advance in wholesale prices have made such action inevitable. For a week back the weight of the loaves have been diminished from two to four ounces in lieu of an increase in the price, but now they find such a course impracticable. For what they usually charged for the regulation loaf, under the circumstances they would be compelled to give only what might be denominated a good sized roll. They will probably decide on baking in the old sized pans and advance the price in proportion to the increased price demanded of them, —The ladies are having a decidedly lively convention in Pittsburg. Mrs. Frances L. Swift has been re-elected president with a salary of $1,000 per year. We suppose the salary will not more than pay her expenses. She has been the president during the past seven years without a cent of remuneration. Mrs. Ellen M. Watson, of the same city, was elected corresponding secretary. Both of these ladies were in Bellefonte when the State Convention met here and will be remembered by our people. Their election is a victory for the element which wants the organization to keep out of politics.

Gov. Curtin in the South.

Considerable is now being said in the North about the occurrence of last Friday in Richmond, Va., and as Governor Curtin bore a part in it which must be applauded by all loyal men in this part of the country we give it local mention. A gentleman from Philadelphia who is a member of the Union Veteran Legion and also of the Philadelphia Brigade which was present, by invitation, said of it:

"On Friday, the day of the parade, after the Philadelphia Brigade had taken its place in the column, with the Union Veteran flag floating over their heads, General Robert E. Lee camp marched into the State house Square, opposite Governor Lee's residence and fell into line. They were ahead of the Philadelphia Brigade. They unfurled what they called a "camp" flag, but which was neither more nor less than the old Confederate flag. There were other members of the Legion present beside myself, and when they saw the Confederate flag, borne in the same column with the Legion's stars and stripes they went to Camp Lee and told both its commander and the commander of the whole parade that their flag could not be carried with rebel colors. Some of the Lee camp men wore the old brown slouch hat, and on them the silver letters 'C. V.'

The Camp declined to furl the flag, replying to all remonstrances: "We carried the flag before and we will carry it now." They were told that if they persisted the others had no choice but take their flag away, and to this they replied; "We don't care what they do." The committee of Pickett's men who had charge of the arrangements tried to smooth the matter over, but Lee Camp was obdurate and the Legion flag was taken out of the line and sent back to the hotel. Lee Camp also had an American flag with them and this they sent back to us and under it we marched.

"On the march to the cemetery some of the Philadelphia boys, not liking the way they had been treated, dropped out of the line. When we got to the monument, which was in the Hollywood Cemetery, we were confronted by a stand erected by a number of Confederate flags, to say nothing of Confederate brigade colors. Over all this, on a lofty pole, floated another big Confederate flag. On either side of the platform was a cheap muslin American flag. The boys were dissatisfied with the whole thing, and a number of them left the cemetery. In his speech from the platform, Major R. Taylor Scott, of Virginia, used no uncertain language, but said plainly, "We believed, and to-day believe, that the cause of Virginia and the South was just."

"In the evening we were splendidly entertained at a banquet by Pickett's men. Colonel McClure's speech on that occasion I consider nothing less than an apology for the Rebellion, while the address of Ex-Governor Curtin had the true ring, telling them in a jocular way, but one which was earnest for all that, that we whipped them before and if they did the same thing we would whip them again."

The flag carried by the Philadelphia Brigade was one borrowed from the Union Veteran Legion, which the Legion had resolved they would never carry behind a Confederate flag. We are surprised that they consented to carry any American flag behind that of the Confederacy. This thing of carrying the Confederate flag should be prohibited on the same ground that the Anarchist flag is outlawed. This Union is one and inseparable and one flag is sufficient. People who don't want to march behind the stars and stripes should emigrate to Australia or to Halifax.

—Miss Sallie Hess, who died in Pine Grove, on the 3d instant, was in her 49th year. She lived, all her life with her father who is still living at the age of 90. She made many heroic sacrifices for his comfort. Her death will be a very severe blow to him as it was extremely sudden.

TRY IT YOURSELF.

"It is of no use to argue the question, Philip, I am neither stubborn nor opinionated. I have simply had a lesson that will last a lifetime."

"Look here, Jack! you are like some old bachelor who has been jilted by some woman, and goes about declaring all women false."

"Not at all! my brother Charley died of Bright's disease, brought on by using one of these so called 'blood purifiers'—the kind you see attractively advertised in every nook and corner. It contains iodine of potassium, a drug useful in extreme cases when cautiously given under a doctor's supervision, death-dealing to all who take it in quantity. If your brother had died under such circumstances, you would hate patent medicines as I do."

"I do dislike the name of that mis-called 'blood purifier', for I have heard a first class physician say it is the cause of half the cases of Bright's disease in the country, and it is strange the proprietors have not been prosecuted for selling it. But I was recommending Vinegar Bitters and that does not contain any mineral narcotic or other hurtful drug."

"Oh, nobody supposes that old woman's remedy will hurt anybody; the question is will it cure anything? I'd as soon think of taking some of my grandmother's herb tea."

"You would be better off, Jack, if you had some of that tea to tone up your system now, instead of taking a glass of brandy to make you sleep one night, and perhaps a bottle of beer next."

"Is this a temperance lecture, Phil?"

"No, it is a Vinegar Bitters lecture. I've taken the medicine more or less for fifteen years, and look the world over, you will not find a healthier man than I am."

"What is all this nonsense about old style and new style Vinegar Bitters; are they different?"

"Yes, the old style looks like coffee with milk in, the new style like coffee without milk. The man who made the old style for twenty years—a practical chemist—made a milder, pleasanter preperation, adding to it here, and taking from it there, until he produced, my wife says, the finest medicine ever made. It cured her of constipation, and it cures the children of hives and all the little ailments they ever have. If my wife thinks they have worms, she doses them with old style. We always have both kinds in the house and together, they keep the doctor away."

"And you insist that the pudding—"

"Is the eating—precisely. Jack, get a bottle of the old style Vinegar Bitters—men, I think, prfer old style usually—try it, and you will then be like an old bachelor who, after railing against women for years, falls in love with a good woman at last. You will say there are good and bad patent medicines, but Vinegar Bitters is the best of the lot."

"All right, Phil, to please you, I'll try it and report results." 20-37-18m

OLD DR. CHASE'S NEW RECEIPT BOOK.

His Last & Crowning Life Work.

Dr. Chase's Third, Last and Compiete Receipt Book and Household Physician, or the Book for the Million, contains nearly 900 pages and sells for $2.25 in cloth binding and $3.50 in imported oil cloth, marble edge, and is justly by him called

'THE CROWNING WORK OF MY LIFE.'

It is the result of over half a century's observation, study and experience. Yet this embodies no compilation of his former books, IT IS WHOLLY A NEW BOOK. If 30 years ago he could produce a book that has had a sale of over fifteen hundred housand copies, and has made his name familiar in nearly every English-speaking home in the United States, Canada, and South America, what KIND of a book could or would he produce as his Crowning Life Work, WITH MORE THAN THIRTY YEARS OF ADDITIONAL PRACTICE AND EXPERIENCE? The book itself answers the question, and is the most valuable production in the history of book publishing.

The Book is published in both English and German.

—Two weddings occurred in Clearfield, on Wednesday. Mr. A. E. Patton, of Curwensville, son of Congressman Patton, wedded Miss Mary Dill, daughter of Mr. W. H. Dill, of Clearfield. Allison O. —Hiram Z. Leonard, of Indiana, who was recently the Union-Labor candidate for Governor and is now speaking for General Harrison, is a relative of T. P. Rynder, the Protection candidate for congress in this district. Mr. Rynder's family connection is very extensive throughout the country and all of them are Protectionists of the most pronounced type.

—The Protection demonstrations at Howard, Unionville and Snow Shoe, on Saturday, were very enthusiastic and successful. J. G. Love and Wilbur F. Reeder, Esqs., spoke at both Unionville and Howard. We understand that Thomas Murray, Esq., of Clearfield, and Captain W. C. Kress, of Lock Haven, were also present and delivered capital orrtions.

—We are sure that Judge Orvis is wrong when he intimates that the tariff is in any way responsible for the making of tramps. If he examines closely into the real cause for trampism we believe he will discover that it is the use of strong drink. Intemperance is the prolific source of trampism. Of course, there are honorable exceptions, but they prove the rule.

THE PRESIDENT'S PARTY.

Attempts to Hold a Great Free Trade Mass Meeting.

THE BEST ORATORS FAIL TO ELICIT ANY ENTHUSIASM.

The local managers of Mr. Cleveland's Free Trade party attribute the small attendance at their Saturday evening meeting to the bad weather. This had something to do with it. But the stronger political attractions at Snow Shoe, Unionville and Howard had even more influence. The managers may well be alarmed, as there is something radically wrong about a party when its adherents won't brave even rainy weather to attend a big meeting in the county town. Then the so-called Democrats of Bellefonte failed to attend as there were at no time more than three hundred people in the Court House and they were largely Republicans, as was evidenced once when Judge Orvis uttered a Republican sentiment for the purpose of ridiculing it. The applause came before he introduced his ridicule, much to the Judge's surprise.

For the second successive time not one of the advertised speakers put in an appearance. This is a certain augury that the Democratic votes won't be there when the count is made in November.

The Zion band furnished the music and this part of the exercises was certainly enchanting. We never heard the band play better than on this occasion.

C. M. Bower, Esq., was elected President of the meeting. The other officers were thirteen vice presidents and two secretaries. The chairman, in his brief opening address, apologized for the absence of speakers from a distance and, for the purpose of keeping the audience in the court room, said that they would arrive at 8.45 o'clock. He endeavored to explain Cleveland's pension record by stating that Mr. Cleveland really did grant some and the democrats have increased the rates in two different instances. He introduced Judge Jno. H Orvis. Now, it is conceded that Judge Orvis and and the gentleman who followed him, D. F. Fortney, Esq., are as able political speakers as there are in this part of the State. They labored hard on Saturday evening to make points, but not one argument did they advance that the average school boy cannot successfully controvert. This merely serves to show the weakness of their side. More than that, both Mr. Bower and Mr. Orvis charged that the Republicans misrepresent. Mr Orvis made nnmerous assertions in his address which we cannot attribute to ignorance; therefore, they must be misrepresentations.

His first error was the attempt to prove that the tariff must be paid by the consumer. He said this to disprove an assertion of Gov. Beaver's that the tariff is a bonus which foreigners pay for the privilege of selling their goods here. Experience and figures favor what Gov. Beaver says of it. For instance, nails have been sold for less than the tariff. A suit of clothes costs $5 in New York and $7 in London. The Cleveland administration, in buying blankets in England, procured them for only a half dollar per pair less than they could have been bought at home. And D. F. Fortney, in his address, stated that the tariff on blankets is $2.50 per pair.

He quoted some high tariff countries in which the wages are very low. But the Judge knows very well that those countries are despotic monarchies in which it is considered the proper thing to oppress the poor, and as such are not suitable for comparison with the United States.

He asserted what is certainly a truth—that the law of supply and demand regulates wages. That is the theory upon which Protection works, and the Judge's discriminating mind can at once perceive that if foreign cheap goods are excluded there will be a greater demand for home goods, in the manufacture of which suitable wages are paid.

He mentioned two Republicans who employ foreign laborers, but omitted to mention that Mr. Brice, the Democratic National Chairman, has employed 1200 of them.

He quoted some figures of wages in this country and England which he said were prepared by a person who was both a knave and a fool because they did not make the highest proportionate wages in those industries which are protected. This we think rather proves the correctness of the figures, because if they had been prepared merely for effect the compiler would have been careful to have made the wages of protected industries proportionately higher. Come now, Judge, isn't this an argument in favor of their authenticity?

In his exhuberance of earnestness the Judge said that the labor organizations had all come into existence during Republican supremacy; that they were a necessity of the times, and had never previously been heard of. Let us dispel this delusion from the learned Judge's mind. A few weeks ago we had the pleasure of looking at the first copy of the Philadelphia Public Ledger ever issued. It was dated 1831, before the Republican party was heard of. We particularly noticed and commented on as part of its contents two calls of labor organizations for meetings. In one of them various grievances were recited. If the Judge had been a constant reader of the DAILY NEWS he would not have thus egregiously erred in this statement. If he is interested in these labor organizations that excellent Democrat, Gen. W. H. Blair, will doubtless permitt him to peruse this very interesting old paper referred to.

Then the Judge stated that strikes and lock-outs occur only in protected industries. Naturally the first industry which we think think of is that of printing. We never heard that either editors, printers or their productions are protected. But some of the greatest strikes and lock-outs of the age have occurred in printing establisnments.

He called attention to the fact that there were fewer sheep in this county in 1880 than in 1870, though wool was protected. This is accounted for by a preponderance of Democratic dogs that killed the sheep. But the fact is, Judge, that in the United States there were many more sheep in 1880 than in '70, though since 1880 they have been decreasing, because of reductions in the tariff.

He was certainly faulty in his assertion that the tariff made the tramps as he was in regard to their number. Before Republican supremacy, he said, there were but two millionaires—Stephen Girard and John Jacob Astor. Now there are thousands. But to every millionaire there are 10,000 tramps. This is truly frightful. Estimating the millionaires at 2000, there are 20,000,000 tramps—one in every three. That would make about one hundred tramps in the Court House Saturday night. Do you see to what ridiculous conclusion your premises will lead, Mr. Orvis? Or, give it a local significance. If to every millionaire there are 10,000 tramps; as there are generally supposed to be three millionaires in Bellefonte there must be 30,000 tramps.

In Mr. Fortney's speech he complained because castor oil is taxed and ottar of roses is free. Our excellent friend is assured that the Republicans, too, acknowledge that there are inequalities in the tariff, but its adjustment must be left to its Republican friends and not to gentlemen like Mills, Carlisle, Breckenridge, Cleveland and other unreconstructed Rebels, who flaunt Confederate flags in the faces of northern soldiers when they pay them a friendly visit. As for these drugs, however, we advice both orators to indulge more freely in ottar of roses and eschew castor oil for awhile, and see if their statements as well as their spirits will not be cooled and calmed by the application and they will be able to pay more sedulous attention to accuracy and truth.

Railroad Thieves Detected.

On July 21st last car No. 2,411 of the New York, New Hampshire & Hudson River railroad was broken open at Bolivar station, on the P. R. R., twenty miles west of Johnstown, in Westmoreland county. A box of merchandise was stolen from the car, being thrown out as the train reached New Florence, and hidden in the woods below the water tank. The box contained five thousand seven hundred and fifty-one yards of embroidery, valued at $399. The box was broken open and part of the embroidery carried off by the thieves. The portion left was found and taken charge of by some railroad men.

Hampton Houghton, Chief of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's detectives, was notified of the burglary, and he at once went to work on the case. He learned the name of a party who was riding on the train, and, it proving to be that of an individual who on previous occasion had shot at a trainman, the officer suspected at once that he was one of the persons who had broken open the car.

The detectives found part of the goods in the houses of George Fleck, at Millville; William Fleck, at Cooperdale; Thomas Adams, Johnston and Lawrence Fleck, Moxham. These men were arrested and imprisoned. The officers succeeded in recovering a total of four thousand one hundred yards of lace and a dozen pairs of shoes. They also obtained many valuable clues that will be useful to them in the future should they have occasion to use them.

—A very serious accident occurred on Friday night on the Beech Creek railroad near Beech Creek. Two coal cars were run upon the main track just in time to be in the way of the 7:30 p. m. passenger train, which came thundering along at frightful speed. When a crash seemed imminent the fireman of the locomotive, Joseph Cassdy, of Jersey Shore, leaped for his life and escaped with but slight injuries. Later, however, when he was clearing the wreck he was crushed to death beneath the engine. A man named Johnson, of Munsie Station, who was riding on the cowcatcher of the engine, was so mangled that he died a short time after the collision. Mrs. McEntire, wife of the chief engineer of the Beech Creek railroad, was riding on the engine. The engineer at once thought of her safety and caught hold of her to save her from being thrown from the engine. Strange to say, both escaped with but slight injuries. Almost every passenger in the train was somewhat hurt by the suddenness and force of the collision.

—Roger K. Foster, son of Presiding Elder M. K. Foster, of Hungtindon, was admitted so the bar of Huntingdon county last week.

UNIONVILLE AROUSED.

The Great Demonstration for Harrison and Morton in the Fairest Villrge at the Foot of the Alleghenies.

There is no prettier town in Centre county than Unionville. It is situated in Bald Eagle Valley amidst beautiful surroundings, almost at the very foot of the great Allegheny mountains. The Bald Eagle Valley Railroad passes through the town. The old Erie turnpike—the ancient, well known highway between the eastern and western parts of the state—runs right through the town and thence up the mountain past the old "Rattlesnake" tavern, thence to Philipsburg and Erie.

Unionville is an old settlement and has always been noted for the intelligence and thrift of its people. Very few of the old "Friends" are left. Nearly all have passed peacefully away, having left to the people who remain examples of the good and Godly lives which they lived. The whole settlement is a peaceful and happy one to-day.

Few places of the same age gave more men to the cause of our country during the war than did Unionville and vicinity, and no better soldiers went from any place.

Republicanism and everything else that is right has always found a strong foothold in the vicinity. Hence the large meeting on Saturday to erect the beautiful pole from which is to float a patriotic Harrison and Morton flag and to hear discussed the issue of so much importance to the American people by such able speakers as those who were present on that occasion.

Two postponements on account of inclement weather had been made on previous Saturdays, but though the day was rainy and cold, the crowd was there. The pole was erected without the least hitch or break, and as it assumed an upright position cheers from hundreds of throats rent the air, and the Curtin band played the "Red, White and Blue." All were inspiring and the very elements seemed to be defied.

As soon as the pole was in place the meeting was called to order (from the stand which had been erected at the west side of the old Taylor hotel) by Dr. W. C. VanValin, who had been made chairman. The following named old voters of 1840 were made vice presidents: A. N. Russel, Nathan Harley, Jacob Peters, George W. Peters, Jacob Comley, Benj. Comley, Wm. Stover, John Stover, J. L. Bonham, of Unionville borough; Wm. Spotts, Jesse Parsons and Frederick Harpster, of Union township, and Henry Taylor, of Boggs township. Some of them voted for Van Buren in 1840, but all will vote for the grandson of the man who ended Van Buren's political career in that year.

In very appropriate words the chairman stated the object of the meeting and the issues of the day, the fight for or against American homes, American products and American labor, and then introduced W. F. Reeder, Esq., of Bellefonte, who spoke for some minutes in his usual happy style, and produced facts bearing on the great political campaign of 1888 that cannot be answered by our Free-trade opponents. As Mr. Reeder was to speak at Howard just as soon as he could get there, he introduced to the meeting Hon. Thomas H. Murray, of Clearfield, who, in the most pleasant way, with convincing arguments and eloquent words, held the attention of the audience—ladies and gentlemen—for one hour and twenty minutes; that, too, in a steady rain. Not a real down-pour, but just enough to wet a person "comfortably"; and when he stopped talking all were anxious for him to continue. There was not one word of abuse of any candidate or anybody—so different from the stock in trade" of the Democratic speakers. The part of their speeches that is not mere wind is abuse or false statements or trying to talk both ways—tariff for one audience when it suits or free trade for another when it suits. Mr. Murrey showed up the false claims of the Democrats in regard to the great reform they are continually talking about having made. He showed the prosperity of the country under the different tariffs, the depression of business and panics under free trade reign, as shown by extracts from the messages of Presidents Fillmore and Buchanan and by other papers. Thus with facts, eloquence, wit and anecdotes the audience was royally entertained. When the speaker closed, the flag and streamer were given to the breeze and the band played the "Star Spangled Banner." Three cheers were given and the meeting closed, all satisfied that even a rainy day cannot prevent the success of a Republican meeting. The cause is right and just.

Very many ladies were present and did not leave on account of the rain either. Several wagon loads came from Curtin's, Milesburg, and McCoys. Jno. G. Love, Esq., W. E. Gray, Wilmer Malin and Chairman Brown were present and remained until the meeting opened, but as they were due at Snow Shoe in three hours from that time they had to leave. Andrew Curtin, Harry Curtin, Frank McCoy and others from Bellefonte were on hand to assist in the success of the meeting.

Benjamin Rich, the master spirit of the enterprise, was everywhere during all the exercises. To him very much of the credit is due for its wonderful success. He was also ably assisted by Dr. Van Valin, the Underwoods, Dr. Russell, the Peters and many others, who lent ready hands and willing hearts to the work. Hurrah for every one of them and three times three for Harrison, Morton and the ticket!

HAPPY HYMEN.

The Fabled Deity Presides over the Nupitals of John M. Dale, Esq., and Miss Florence Graham Fox.

The parlor of the Bush House, Tuesday evening at 6.30 o'clock, was rich in the glory of electric lights. In front of the mirror was a bank of rare plants and flowers while rich bouquets of wax-like, star-eyed anemone added their purity to the bright color. This was an appropriate setting for a bridal scene, and needed only the bride and bridegroom.

A few richly dressed ladies and gentlemen conversing in merry but slightly subdued tones rendered the effect additionally brilliant. At exactly the hour named above, Miss Florence Graham Fox, the bride, entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her step-father, Mr. W. R. Teller. John M. Dale, Esq., came with his friend, James Hamill, Esq., as best man. Rev. J. O. Davis, rector of the Episcopal church, received them and with the beautiful and impressive ceremony of that church consummated the happy union.

When all were grouped in the parlor there were exactly sixteen persons and, unconsciously, the grouping was very artistic, making a very pretty bridal tableau. All who know the bride acknowledge her rare beauty, grace and unaffected manner. Her natural charms were enhanced by a rich and elegant gown of creme Faille Francaise, made en traine, and trimmed with Duchess lace. Her only jewel ornament was a diamond bar pin, a present from the groom. In her hand she carried an ivory prayer book. The costume was completed by a vail of white Brussels lace. It is scarcely necessary to add that the groom, always manly and handsome, never looked to better advantage than on this occasion.

Among the most honored guests present we must not omit to mention Mrs. Isabella Redford, of Richmond, Va., the grandmother of the bride.

The wedding march was from Lohengrin and was executed by that skillful performer, Mr. C. E. Beers, of New York.

The refreshments were served in the private dining room. The table was richly ornamented and by its beauty attracted and inspired each guest as the choice viands proved delightful and refreshing. The menu was sufficiently discussed. There was scarcely time to extend congratulations and admire the very beautiful presents when the time for parting came. The gifts were rich and costly, about fifty in number.

Never did a bride and groom depart with better wishes or more happily. The guests and the servants in the hotel, all of whom have sincere affection for the fair bride, sent after them rice, old shoes, a purse of money and everything that is supposed to bring good luck. Their wedding tour will take them into the sunny Southland, whence they expect to return in about two weeks.
